[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—Tom L. Johnson bent to his strong will today the most riotous state convention held in Ohio since 1883, when Durbin Ward was counted out of the nomination for the governorship in favor of George Hoadly. Time after time Johnson was bitterly denounced from the floor, the epithets of "boss," "demagogue" and "ingrate" were hurled at him recklessly, but he smiled through it all, treated his enemies courteously and all the time kept his hand on the mainspring.

Who captured the Ohio Democratic convention, was nominated for governor and committed his party in the Buckeye state to Bryanism.

Johnson himself was nominated by acclamation. John L. Zimmerman was for weeks seemed to be making a winning campaign against the Cuyahoga county man, withdrew from the race when the radical platform was adopted. He declared to his friends early this morning that he would not consent to run on a declaration of principles in which he does not believe. The test vote cast on the majority report of the credentials com-

RING METHODS ARE EXPOSED

Less Than a Quorum of Committee Ratifies Bigelow's Ticket.

NEGLEY STOOD OUT

Member from Sixth District Refused to Lend Aid to Schemes of the Machine Bosses.

SAYS MEETING WAS ILLEGAL

According to Attorney H. H. Negley, the action yesterday of the Citizens county committee of thirty-two in ratifying the nominations made by the fusion conference is illegal. There was not a quorum of the Citizens committee present, as there were but 16 members in attendance. Chairman Murry A. Verner refused to allow the taking of a yea and nay vote.

The Citizens county committee as usual met yesterday in secret session. The guard was placed at the front door of the stairway leading to the second story of the headquarters building, and none but members were allowed to enter the room where the meeting was held. This is the only committee representing a political party that holds secret meetings or is afraid to have its proceedings become public. H. H. Negley of Elliott, member from the Sixth legislative district, in an interview last evening, explained the necessity for their secrecy. The truth of the matter is that the method of the "reformers" is not likely to meet with the approval of the people, and the bosses know it. The happenings in the "star chamber" session of yesterday give one a fair idea of the way the bosses of the Citizens party operate, while parading in public on a platform of "death to ring rule."

Sorry Negley Attended.

Tuesday the committees of the Democrats and Citizens "nominated" a county ticket. Thomas S. Bigelow announced that he had carefully examined the rules of the Democratic party, and decided that it was unnecessary to reconvene the Democratic county convention to ratify the ticket. It was necessary for the Citizens county committee to approve the work of the conferees, Mr. Bigelow said, and he announced that this would be done on Wednesday afternoon. The Democratic convention was not reconvened because Bigelow was afraid that some of the delegates would object to the ticket. He felt confident that he could control the Citizens committee and that the public could be informed that the committee of 32 had unanimously indorsed the fusion ticket. He had failed to poll his committee.

The meeting was scheduled for 3 o'clock. About that hour H. H. Negley was busy with a client in his office, when former Police Inspector Henry Whitehouse appeared. He said that Bigelow had sent him to ask Negley to attend the meeting, as there were but 16 members present, and one more was needed for a quorum. Negley said he was busy and made no promise to attend. In a few minutes that willing lieutenant of the Bigelow machine, Charles S. Crawford, telephoned Negley urging him to go over to headquarters. He was not given any satisfaction. In a few minutes he again telephoned and secured Negley's promise to attend the meeting.

When Negley reached headquarters, he was met by Crawford and told that there

SIR THOMAS SEES NO FAULT IN SHAMROCK OR CAPTAIN

Says He Will Take Third Race and Perhaps Carry America's Cup to England—Fife Makes No Excuses for Tuesday's Blunder.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The wind at Sandy Hook at midnight was southeast, about three miles an hour. The sky is cloudy and the prospects for a race today appear poor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The yachts and their crews sent a quiet day within the Hook today. On Shamrock III. a mainsail and a big club topsail were hoisted, but were soon taken down again. On Reliance not even any such pretense of work was made. The visit of C. Oliver Iselin, Jr., with Butler Duncan, Jr., H. K. Leeds, Woodbury Kane and Newberry D. Thorn to the Erin this afternoon following a long consultation on board the Sunbeam with Nat Herreshoff gave rise to much speculation but it was stated afterward that the call was a social one only.

"Shamrock came in close to Reliance in the race yesterday," said Sir Thomas, when asked for the prospects for the third. "I look for more than three races in this contest and while I know we must get three straight wins now in order to take back the cup I won't give up hope of it until the last race is run. If we lose tomorrow I shall take defeat with good grace. I can still say that I brought over the best challenger that was ever built in England for the America's cup.

"It was Shamrock's weather yesterday; but I disagreed with the experts that the shift of wind as we turned the first leg from the southward to the west helped Shamrock. It didn't. As the wind shifted Shamrock was at her best."

In continuing his talk about the future Sir Thomas said that he had received several cablegrams from directors of his company asking him to return at the earliest possible date.

"I'll have to go to Chicago," he said, "and I am very anxious to visit Boston. I had for one of my guests yesterday President Adams, of the Boston board of trade, and he wanted me to bring the two boats up to the Hub. I really don't see how I can do that. I would have to re-rig them and besides, I don't like to take the risk of going around Cape Cod or up that way."

He announced that he would take Shamrock I. and Shamrock III. back. "Guess I'll leave Shamrock II. over here," he said.

"When I arrived I said that if the Americans wanted to see my three boats race against Reliance, Constitution and Columbia I would agree, but as only two are in commission Shamrock II. would be out of it. I don't know how such a match could be arranged, nor do I know now whether or not I can stay for such an arrangement. I want to hurry back now.

"I still have a chance left. There is one thing that must be said for the challenger," he continued, "and that is she is certainly a beautiful boat. Just keep your eye on her tomorrow."

William Fife, designer of Shamrock III., today denied a report that he had criticised the work of Captain Wringe.

"Such a statement is entirely untrue," he said, "as is the statement that I suggested that he be replaced by Captain Davis. No one criticises Captain Wringe or his handling of the boat in yesterday's race could be competent to judge. I was on the boat and I know whereof I speak."

Mr. Fife refused to discuss the loss of time at the start except to say that he was entirely satisfied.

"If they want to call it amateurism let them call it so. I never discuss the performance of any boat during a race."

The earl and countess of Shaftsbury will probably be received by President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay before leaving this country, and may be taken there on the Erin.

AROUND THE WORLD IN FIFTY-FOUR DAYS

New York Man Makes New Record for Time Consumed in Circling the Globe.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Henry Frederick, who left New York on July 2 on the steamer Deutschland for a tour around the world, with the hope of breaking the record for the shortest time consumed in circling the globe, returned to New York tonight. Mr. Frederick had been successful in his endeavor, having made the circuit in 54 days, 7 hours and 20 minutes. In speaking of his trip he said:

"My object in making the trip was to see the quickest time a man could go around the world comfortably. The train ride from Paris to Dalny, China, consumed 18 days. Two days were spent crossing the Yellow sea and two more by rail across Japan. At Yokohama I missed my steamer by 10 hours and lost seven days, as I was compelled to take a slow boat two days later, which spent 16 days on the Pacific. I landed at Victoria and crossed the continent in a little over four days.

JUDGE KNOCKS GOVERNOR OFF A SPEAKER'S STAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Aug. 26.—Judge Carroll L. Wood, of the Arkansas supreme court, who is opposing Gov. Davis as a candidate for a third term, knocked Gov. Davis off a speaking stand, four feet, to the ground during the campaign at Bismarck yesterday. Gov. Davis was not hurt and friends prevented further trouble.

Judge Wood was immediately arrested on a charge of assault and battery. Gov. Davis publicly asked Judge Wood questions, and before they could be fully answered, interrupted with more questions, which angered Judge Wood.

The matter was adjusted and Judge Wood returned to Little Rock today.

CONGRESS MUST ACT.

Secretary Hitchcock Lacks Authority to Deal With Dawes Indian Commission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—While Secretary Hitchcock will investigate every phase of the Indian land scandals, so far as the Dawes commission is concerned, it will remain for congress to provide the punishment if it is found that its members have been guilty of irregularities or conduct unbecoming officials of the government. The lack of authority to deal with the members of the commission or even to review the charges against them, is proving a serious handicap to Secretary Hitchcock and Attorney General Knox in their efforts to probe the charges.

The fact that the commission was created by congress and that its duties were outlined by that body, practically without consultation with the interior department, makes it difficult for the department to regulate the acts of the commission, notwithstanding that its reports are made to the department.

HYPNOTIZED AND ROBBED

Sweet Voice and Winning Smile Cost Michael Mueller of Duquesne $198.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Michael Mueller of Duquesne, Pa., was standing on the lake front absorbed in watching a faraway sail.

Mueller startled, as he had not heard the approach of footsteps. Then he looked down into a girlish face at his side.

"Yes," he said smilingly.

"Can you tell me where the Union depot is?" she asked timidly.

Mueller could. He answered several other questions, bowed a winning "thank you" and watched the girlish form disappear in the dust. He awoke from his reverie and felt for his watch. It was gone, so was his cash. Mueller reported to the police that his loss was $198.

GOODWIN WAS SHORT ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Suit Brought Against Widow of Confidential Man Who Committed Suicide.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—Howard T. Goodwin, confidential man for Cassatt & Co., who committed suicide last December in his office in the Arcade building, misappropriated $1,000,000, according to the allegations of a bill in equity filed yesterday by John G. Hanson, counsel for the firm of brokers. Cassatt & Co. ask the court to order the executrix of Goodwin's estate, Lizzie Goodwin, to render an accounting of all the property owned by her husband at the time of his death.

The suit against the executrix alleges that the stock held by Goodwin at the time of his death, his books and art treasures, were purchased with money stolen from the firm.

The recent cataloguing of Goodwin's library preparatory to its sale placed its value at several hundred thousand dollars. He had contracted to pay $120,000 for one set of Dickens of 125 volumes, and three of these were already in the library. He paid $10,000 on the contract.

SHANGHAIED BOY BEGS VAINLY FOR RELEASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Begging that he be taken off the ship and returned to his home, a small boy was shanghaied on the French bark Marechal de Gontant, which sailed today for Yokohama. Help was at once sought from revenue cutters and police boats.

The Marechal de Gontant was towed out to Sandy Hook lightship this afternoon, and was at anchor there at dark tonight. A heavy southeaster blew all afternoon, making it impossible for her to sail. The wind still continued tonight. If it increases the ship will be in danger of going ashore on Long Island.

A revenue cutter, sent out to investigate the case, at 11:30 o'clock tonight was laying alongside the Marechal de Gontant, which remains at anchor four miles southeast of Sandy Hook lightship.

The pilot who took the ship out over the bar, leaving her off the Sandy Hook lightship, said on his return tonight that Capt. LeCroix assured him that the boy, said to be Frank Thompson, aged 18 years, of New York, had regularly signed the ship's articles. The pilot said, however, that when he left the vessel he could hear the boy, who was locked up in the cabin, shouting for help.

GOES AFTER BRIDE.

Chicago Editor Bound for Cracow, Poland, to Marry the Princess Donia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Bound to his wedding to the Princess Donia, there sailed today on the New York Louis E. Van Norman of Chicago, editor of the Chautauquan. The Princess Donia belongs to the Kratnowski family, which was exiled from Poland on account of the wars. Her father sought refuge in Boston. Van Norman, at Harvard, was presented to the princess and they fell in love. The house of Kratrowski was able a few years ago to return to Cracow, and before their departure the young people were engaged.

Van Norman went abroad two years ago to claim his bride, but so involved did he become in the formalities of the law that he was obliged to return without her. This time, however, he has been assured that the ceremony will be performed without any hindrance.

FRANK A. PARKER.

Former Mrs. Swift Marries a Violinist.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—A special cable from Berlin states that Mrs. Charles H. Swift of Chicago, who was divorced not long ago from the son of the late well-known packer, Gustavus F. Swift, has announced her marriage to Arthur Hartman, a brilliant young Jewish violinist. Mr. Hartman's home is in Boston, but he has just closed a successful concert tour of Europe.

TWO CLOUDBURSTS FLOOD COUNCIL BLUFFS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA., Aug. 26.—Two cloudbursts tonight destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in this city. The first storm turned the streets of the city into torrents and hundreds of families in the lower districts were removed with difficulty.

Many business houses were flooded by the first storm, and the damage to stocks will amount to thousands. Another storm later in the evening raised the water still higher and many stocks were badly damaged. The loss in this city alone is estimated at easily half a million dollars.

The rainfall here for the 24 hours ending at midnight will amount to six inches.

The Nonpareil has reports from 25 southwestern Iowa points showing the fall of rain to have been the heaviest ever known over so large an area. The damage to the corn crop cannot be estimated.

ARMY REPULSED NAVY IN WAR MANEUVERS

After Destroying Several Vessels the Soldiers Are Watching the Enemy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PORTLAND, ME., Aug. 26.—At 10 o'clock tonight the war maneuvers had again developed into a watching and waiting game for the defending forces, just as before the mimic war was declared. At 7 o'clock tonight the greater part of Admiral Barker's fleet was anchored off Goose island, about 10 miles from Fort McKinley, the easternmost of the protecting fortifications.

A demonstration, claimed by the army to be a day attack and by the navy a night attack, was made by the fleet early in the morning. The attack was repulsed with a theoretical loss of several vessels to the fleet.

The preliminary attack directly after midnight was made by landing parties; the later attack, which ended at 6 a. m., was made by two sections of the fleet, which attempted to force simultaneously the passages leading into the harbor.

MUST GET ANOTHER SITE.

Secretary of War Will Not Give Arsenal Site to Marine Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—No part of the arsenal property will be given by the war department for a site for the marine hospital at Pittsburgh. It was stated at the quartermaster general's office today that the secretary of war had definitely decided that it would be best to retain all of the arsenal property as a supply depot and not give up any portion of it.

A board of officers is to be appointed by the general staff to investigate and make a report on the matter, but it is understood that this will be merely a formality and that some other site will have to be provided for the marine hospital.

L. W. STRATER.

NEUMANN'S HEIR FOUND ON A NEBRASKA FARM

OMAHA, NEB., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Elizabeth Neumann, heir to $300,000 left by Millionaire Thomas Neumann of Wheeling, W. Va., was located at Calhoun, Neb., today. The family is very poor, living on a mortgaged farm in a small tumble-down cottage. When Miss Neumann was asked for she appeared in a blue gingham apron, bare arms and bare feet. Her name now is Mrs. Henry Klasser. Neumann's death last week was supposed to have been suicide.

Charge Against Ex-Revenue Collector.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—Orrin J. Towne, Jr., a former deputy collector of internal revenue for the eastern district of Massachusetts, was arrested here today charged with the defalcation of several thousand dollars. He was dismissed from the service for cause, after which the shortage was discovered. Towne has been engaged in the brokerage business in this city for several months.

MACEDONIANS CRY FOR HELP

Appeal to Powers to Save Them Before It Is Too Late.

GREAT MASS MEETING

Turkish Government Calls Out All Its Reserves to Suppress Rebellion.

SULTAN GIVEN FREE HAND

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sofia, Aug. 26.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here today. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. It was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia, urging their governments to take action. The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented on at the meeting. It was described as "a moment of sunshine which quickly passed."

The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia. The gathering was the largest yet held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its objects.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

Black-Bordered List.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black-bordered list of 70 villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles today from the interior of Macedonia. The revolutionists at Krushevo are reported to have seven quick-firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of 80 soldiers. A Turkish courier carrying 80,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near [illegible].

A private telegram from Dubnitza says that a number of Bulgarian officers, leading a band of 150 insurgents, recently forced their way past the Turkish post at Fikla and now occupy an unassailable position.

Rumors are current here of serious massacres at [illegible] and Kirk-Kilisseh. Three hundred persons are said to have been killed.

Turkish Reserves Called Out.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 26.—The government has decided to call to the colors all the remaining European reserves belonging to the second and third army corps and a number of other reserves, which will bring the total of the Turkish soldiers in Macedonia up to 250 battalions, or almost double the force utilized in the Graeco-Turkish war. The enrollment of such large bodies of troops indicates the seriousness with which Turkey views the situation and her determination to use all the means at her disposal to repress the rebellion.

Ibrahim Pasha, the new commander of the troops, is a young and capable officer. Seven battalions have been dispatched to Florina from Monastir.

INDIANS MAY TAKE WARPATH

Serious Danger of an Uprising in Northern Minnesota.

CRISIS NOW AT HAND

Former Red-Skinned Policeman, in Disfavor With Whites, Foments a Rebellion.

SETTLERS SEEKING SAFETY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Paul, Aug. 26.—Authentic reports from Onigum, the headquarters of the Leech Indian agency and of the Chippewa reservations in northern Minnesota, confirm the reports received yesterday that an outbreak is pending. The crisis has been narrowly averted once and white residents at the agency are expressing their confidence that it will come again. They are packing their goods and moving out to places of safety. The Indians, it is reported today, are turbulent and the agitation of blanket pillager fanatics continues.

The latest reports state that there was a demonstration at the agency Saturday serious enough to prompt Chief Clerk Morgan of the agency, who was in charge in the absence of Maj. Scott, the agent, to warn the employes to be ready to flee for their lives. Saturday night was spent in wakefulness. A launch was kept ready and the whites were prepared to board it, and by hugging the opposite shore of the lake, to escape to Walker.

Timber matters and whisky are what have irritated the Indians. They have been disgruntled over several minor grievances recently and only wanted a leader to rise in open warfare. The leader has been supplied in the person of a former chief of Indian police on the reservation, but more recently a prisoner at Duluth on charge of selling liquor to Indians. He is an influential man among the Indians and his forefathers were kings of the Chippewas. Gathered about him are a number of the young bucks who are desirous of trouble and several of the leaders of the former outbreak. Flat Mouth, chief of the Chippewas, is strongly in favor of peace, and is doing his utmost to prevent trouble. He is not in great favor with the Indians, however, and little heed is paid to him by the other party. Flat Mouth has today sent to Bear Island, the home of the Pillager Indians, for several of his friends, among whom is "Old Bug," the leader of the former outbreak, and has enlisted them to work for peace.

Chief Clerk Morgan says that the Indians resent the attitude the agent, Maj. Scott, has taken against the Walker timber men, several of whom he has brought to trial in the United States courts. Maj. Scott and the agency officials have done their utmost to exterminate the selling of liquor to the red men, and have thus made enemies of many of the Indians.

CORRUPTION IS CHARGED.

Democratic Leaders at Scranton May Force Withdrawal of Their Candidate.

SCRANTON, PA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Because of the charge published in the newspapers that P. H. Golden's successful candidacy for jury commissioner was promoted by the Scranton Railway Company, the other candidates on the ticket and the Democratic leaders will meet tomorrow night to consider the advisability of requesting Mr. Golden to withdraw.

Half of the delegates were members of the United Mine Workers and 90 per cent of them were union men, but M. J. Garvey, who it is alleged, is a miner who was blacklisted by the coal companies, received only 25 votes against 123 for Golden, who is a saloonkeeper. It is alleged that large sums of money were spent among the delegates.

COUNTRY WILL PROSPER WITHOUT LEGISLATION

Representative Overstreet of Indiana Says Public Confidence Assures Freedom of Currency Circulation.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 28, Post Building,
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.

Representative Overstreet of Indiana, secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, is in the city. Mr. Overstreet is deeply interested in the financial question. He was a leader in the movement which resulted in the gold standard legislation of 1900, is a member of the committee on banking and currency of the house, and regarded as one of the practical legislators on financial subjects. When asked today his opinion upon the necessity for further legislation, Mr. Overstreet said:

"Of course, I would be glad to see additional currency legislation and would deem it advisable. At the same time I want to emphasize my opinion that it is not necessary to the continuance of prosperity.

"There are two main features of the financial situation. First, the certainty and security of our currency; second, the freedom of its circulation. Now the certainty and security of the currency is assured by the legislation already on the statute books. There cannot be the shadow of a doubt as to the stability of our currency. It is founded on rock bottom and cannot be assailed or shaken.

"The freedom of circulation can be secured by continuance of public confidence. Why should not public confidence continue? There is nothing in the industrial conditions of this country to menace prosperity. The banking conditions are much better today than they were one year ago. The little flurry in Wall street makes no impression whatever on the west; it has not caused as much commotion in industrial and financial circles as the falling of an autumn leaf. Let public confidence continue and we will have no cause to complain of the freedom of circulation.

"Industrial conditions throughout the country west of the Susquehanna river are in every way admirable. The country seems to be in a fever of industrial activity. Men are busy everywhere, working night shifts as well as in the day time. The crops are splendid, railroads are taxed to their utmost to move the accumulation of freight at every point, and on every hand is indication of thrift and industry."

HIGHWAYMEN ALMOST KILL THEIR VICTIM

Highwaymen badly beat and robbed Samuel Schaefer, 24 years old, early this morning in the rear of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station. After taking Schaefer's watch and chain the footpads left him lying unconscious and escaped. Schaefer was found later with his jaw broken and his head and face battered almost beyond recognition. He was removed to the Homeopathic hospital and as his condition is so serious that his injuries may result fatally, detectives were put on the case at once.

SYRIANS HOLD GREAT JUBILEE

Gazette Reporter Acts as Master of Ceremonies at Ante-Nuptial Dance.

WEIRD MUSIC OF THE BAZOO

Midway Music Furnished Tunes for Fantastic Dancing—A Three Days' Merry-Making Will End Tonight With Big Wedding Celebration.

Leading in the dance at a Syrian wedding rehearsal, a reporter for The Gazette was last night made master of ceremonies at one of the most elaborate ceremonies ever witnessed in the local Arabian colony. In a big tenement in Poplar alley, between Elm and Logan streets, a three-days' jubilee was held in anticipation of the nuptials of Afeefe Nicola and Joseph Ayaub, which will be solemnized at 10:30 o'clock this morning in St. Anne's Roman Catholic church, by the Rev. Mgr. Corcoran and the Rev. Father Anthony Ageldeouney.

All the ancient traditions of the old-time Syrians were observed. Beginning on Monday evening the quaint merry-making began. Each evening the guest list grew and last night nearly 100 well-wishers gathered in the basement to join in the festivities. Tonight the post-nuptial celebration will be observed. Taken altogether it is the most recherche function that has been held in the Syrian 400 this season.

The Gazette reporter was introduced to the assemblage by Policeman W. M. White, who has one of the Hill beats and who has been duly admitted into the inner circles of Syrian society. With such credentials, of course the reporter literally was received with open arms. The other guests proposed his health and a generous-minded host passed him three trays of cigarettes and Wheeling stogies.

From Poplar alley the merry-making sounded like the streets of Cairo. The music was made by those fantastic oriental flutes which are known on the carnival midway as the "bazoo." Inside were gathered all the belles and beaux of the Pittsburgh Syrian colony. They filled a medium-sized room, where two kerosene lamps dispelled the gloom. The reporter, who dropped in wearing a crash suit, was not compelled to apologize for the lack of evening dress. The guests wore their street clothes and in the corners of the room the peddler's packs showed that some had come there directly after completing their day's toil.

The men and women do not dance together. Oriental people regard the American waltz as improper. To the midway music, which was produced on a score of bazoos by tireless musicians who sat on benches around the room, the men danced by themselves in a string, like a party of boys playing "London Lou," while the women formed another line and fussed about like a lot of Spring Garden children at "ring-around-a-rosy."

The movement of the Syrian dance is like a cross between an Irish jig and that famous wiggle which makes an Elk's fair so popular. The women danced this with enthusiasm, and, what was the most wonderful part of it, they kept each "set" up for nearly an hour. It was really a cosmopolitan gathering. There was German beer, Scotch and Irish whisky and American highballs. The bride did not appear. She will be there tonight and the celebration will reach its climax.

PRINTERS MUST SWEAR OATH OF ALLEGIANCE

Measure Intended to Forestall Possible Strike in the Government Printing Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—An order from Public Printer Palmer was issued to the heads of divisions in the government printing office just before closing today to appear before a notary public in the office and take the oath of allegiance to the United States as subscribed to by clerks under the civil service law.

Mr. Palmer said tonight he had issued the order at the suggestion of a government official. He said that its object was to place the per diem employes in the same attitude toward the government as that of the clerks on annual salaries. Every employe of the office would be affected by the order.

The issuance of the order created considerable surprise among the employes of the office, especially among members of the bookbinders' union, who believe it has indirectly a bearing on the case of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery, who was discharged from the office because he had been expelled from the local bookbinder's union, but who was afterwards reinstated by President Roosevelt.

Italian Cut During a Fight.

During a fight in a house in the rear of No. 3041 Park avenue, East Liberty, early this morning, Frank Hedlo of No. 158 Stoebner street, was badly cut by Michael Giriski of Flavel street. The men had been drinking with 20 others in the house when the fight started. Giriski, who was the aggressor, attacked Hedlo with a razor. The party was arrested and locked in No. 6 police station, where a physician dressed Hedlo's injuries. He was badly cut on the cheek, hand and leg. Giriski escaped.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA.—W. R. Thompson, a real estate man, and Miss Jennie Minnich, also a resident of New Wilmington, were married.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—The marriage at high noon of John Gilmore and Miss Bertha Cunningham of Wampum was an event of much interest.

CLEARFIELD, PA.—Two negroes, giving their names as Roy Wilson and Robert Walker, were arrested by Chief of Police Flanigan, charged with shooting Brakeman Philip Kountz at Philipsburg.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, to make room for its immense yards to be built at Shire Oaks, this county, has purchased more than $1,000,000 worth of property between Courtney and Sunnyside.

LATROBE, PA.—Miss Elizabeth G. Saxman and Simon G. Fry were married here.

PUT A TAG ON THE FOUNTAIN.

During Tuesday night some waggish individual placed a tag on the drinking fountain recently installed by the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings. It bore the following message, entitled "An Ode:"

"There is more real sincerity,
Genuine Philanthropy,
Flows from this Savings Fount
Than from the Spring of Skibo—
A rather good fellow—
Who only gives half the amount."
"We, Us & Co."

There is no corner in Pittsburgh half so popular these days as the Bank for Savings corner at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street. It is calculated that nearly 10,000 people had "one on the bank" yesterday, from this cool, clear stream of nature's beverage, which this fountain supplies, and many were the expressions of praise heard in respect to the bank's thoughtfulness and beneficence, which is appreciated by all classes, especially the working people.

It is hoped other institutions and business houses will follow the laudable example of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings and that before another summer rolls around a drinking fountain will be on every prominent corner in the city.

The Farmers Deposit Savings bank, corner Fifth avenue and Wood street, opens for business Saturday August 29. Why not be one of its first depositors? Saturday until 9 p. m. 4 per cent interest paid.

BOY WAS KILLED BY PISTOL SHOT

Accidental Discharge Was Fatal to John Maloney, Aged 6 Years, of Wilkinsburg.

HIS MOTHER IS PROSTRATED

The Father Who is a Traveling Salesman Was Notified at Youngstown, O. Two Victims of the Railroads Yesterday.

While playing with an old revolver, John Maloney, aged six years, of No. 1032 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, was accidentally killed shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His mother, Mrs. Henrietta Maloney, left him in a room playing with his brother, Homer, aged 11 years, while she went down stairs. She heard the report of a pistol shot and rushed up to the room, where she found the boy dead and the other standing horror-stricken beside him.

The two boys had opened a closet and in rummaging through it had discovered an old 32-caliber revolver. John playfully pointed the gun at his brother and advanced toward him. Homer called to him to put the revolver away and the younger brother started to the closet to do so.

John had cocked the weapon and walking over to the closet the little boy tripped and fell, exploding the cartridge. The ball entered his left eye, went clear through his brain and lodged between the scalp and skull in the back of his head. The lad was dead when his mother entered the room.

The lad's mother is prostrated with grief over the fatality. Word was sent to her husband, John Maloney, a traveling salesman, who was in Youngstown yesterday.

The body of the man killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train in Swissvale Tuesday evening remains unidentified at the morgue. In his clothing a receipt book showing that Hami Vanier paid dues as a member of local No. 311, Iron Molders' Union of North America, was found, and it is believed the body is that of Vanier. The man was about 45 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed about 180 pounds. He had a sandy mustache and hair of the same color.

An unknown man was killed on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at 6 o'clock last night at Keating station near Rankin. The man is dressed as a laborer, and is supposed to have been on his way home from work in a Braddock mill when killed. The body is at the morgue.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERS PAID FOR THEIR RISK

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Aug. 26.—Postoffice robbers made a rich haul at Sandy Lake, 15 miles west of this city, early this morning. At 2 o'clock three men gained an entrance to the building by picking the lock of the front door. They went to work on the safe and succeeded in working the combination of the outer door. They got through the inner doors by blowing off the lock with dynamite. A second charge was necessary to get into an iron box which held the receipts of the office and the stamps.

The men took with them the box and contents, amounting to nearly $1,000. They were seen by Mrs. Abrham Wilson, an aged woman living near the postoffice, when they first started to work on the door. She was too frightened to give the alarm. It was not until an hour and a half later that other neighbors were aroused by the explosions. The robbers escaped. How the robbers worked the combination is a mystery to Postmaster Boyd and the authorities.

CIRCUS DIRECTOR FINED.

McCadden Had New Experience in Being Haled to West End by Anti-Cruelty Society.

Although he is himself a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Pennsylvania, Joseph T. McCadden, director of Barnum & Baily, Limited, was arrested late yesterday afternoon, before the night performance of the show in Allegheny, on a charge of cruelty to animals and children. T. L. King of the Anti-Cruelty society, gathered the alleged evidence and caused the arrest. The showman was taken before Alderman Henry Greele in Industry street, West End. He objected to the distance, but to no avail.

Armed with a wad of money, an attorney and a membership card to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Mr. McCadden appeared before the alderman and for a time there was a lively passage of words. King alleged he had seen a horse shod in a blacksmith shop by means of a twitch and also witnessed a small boy beating a large bass drum in the street parade.

Behind the scenes he claimed to have seen a little girl perfectly naked, and other cases that required the attention of the society. Mr. McCadden denied all of the charges except that of the horse. The use of twitches, he said, was necessary. The alderman, however, maintained that he had allowed his men to practise cruelty to animals and perhaps children, and he was fined $10 and costs. Mr. McCadden said last night that in all of his journeys with the show he had never been accused of cruelty to animals.

She says she fell asleep yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and when she awoke an hour later a chatelaine bag, a gold watch, $39 in currency, a bracelet, a brooch, a pair of eyeglasses and a money order valued at about $60, were gone.

John Driscoll Fell from Bridge Into River and Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

FRAIL CELLAR DOOR BROKE

Victim Internally Injured – Gasoline Caused Two Southside Accidents. Men Hurt While Clearing Junction Wreck—Other Mishaps.

Berney Vetske was taken to the South Side hospital last night from Willock. He was kicked between the eyes by a horse and his skull was fractured and his eyesight was destroyed. His condition is critical.

John Driscoll, aged 22, employed by the Pittsburgh Construction Company, while working on the Port Perry bridge yesterday, fell from the top through the ties and into the river. He managed to keep afloat until two fellow workmen could secure a skiff and go to his rescue. They took him ashore, where it was found that he had two ribs and the right arm broken and was otherwise hurt. He was later removed to the McKeesport hospital.

John Wolfe, a German living at No. 5206 Natrona alley, Lawrenceville, had several ribs fractured and sustained severe internal injuries by falling through a frail cellar door in front of No. 5150 Butler street last night.

Mrs. Mary Stevens of No. 88 Brownsville avenue, South Side, attempted to light a gasoline stove at 7:30 last night, when it exploded. She was badly burned about the face and hands.

Mrs. Mary Miller of No. 2808 Jane street, South Side, was using a gasoline stove while washing yesterday afternoon. The stove was upset and the burning fluid started a fire, which did about $200 worth of damage. Mrs. Miller was not hurt.

Foreman J. W. Vandevort had his collarbone and several ribs broken yesterday morning by a derrick falling upon him while he was directing the wreck crew at the scene of a wreck on the Pittsburgh Junction railroad at Thirty-third street. He was taken to his home in New Castle.

Elmer Lockhart of Foster street, Lawrenceville, had his right foot crushed yesterday while at work clearing away the debris at the Pittsburgh Junction railroad wreck.

Mrs. Gussie Wilson of Cottage street, Allegheny, had four ribs fractured by being run over by a wagon at Cabinet street and Allegheny avenue, Allegheny, yesterday.

While riding a bicycle near her home, yesterday, Stella Parcell, 8 years old, of No. 2012 Market street, Allegheny, had her toes crushed in the sprocket wheel. All the toes of her right foot were amputated later.

Mary Pollins fell from a United Traction car at St. Clair street and Fifth avenue, McKeesport, last night and was badly cut and bruised.

Fireman Forrest Beck of Sheraden, suffered heat prostration yesterday afternoon while on the tender of his engine between Sheraden and Carnegie on the Panhandle railroad. He fell over on the fender in a state of collapse while going through the Sheraden tunnel. In the fall he had his head cut, and the injury required several stitches. He will recover.

M'KEESPORT'S MAYOR IMPOSED HEAVY FINES

Port Vue Rioters Severely Punished and Tube City Vice Crusade Was Planned.

When Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport returned from Atlantic City yesterday morning, he found many subjects awaiting his attention. His return signalized the renewal of the vice crusade and the punishment of the Port Vue rioters who were arraigned before him. Five of the tin plate workers who were charged with having created the disturbances of last Monday night, were fined $50 and costs each; two others were sentenced to pay $25 each; one $10 and another $5, while another was sent to the workhouse, owing to the refusal of Vice President Gibson of the Amalgamated association, to pay his fine. Gibson paid out nearly $400 in fines for the strikers.

After the hearing the mayor said he would hold the strikers responsible for the good conduct of their men at Port Vue, inasmuch as they were paying out money to assist in prolonging the strike.

Demands are being made on the mayor to close all the disorderly houses in McKeesport. He stated that a strict investigation was being made by the police and if any objectionable places were discovered they would have to go.

POSTAL WILL IMPROVE MESSENGER SERVICE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Albert B. Chandler, chairman of the board of directors of the Postal Telegraph Company, when asked today what steps the company proposed to take to meet the service the Western Union would extend to the public through the new Gould messenger company at Pittsburgh and other points, said:

"The postal has for a long time been contemplating extending and improving its messenger service along the lines on which the Gould company proposes to work. We will extend the call-box system to all places of 5,000 population and upward, and will make it easier and quicker to telegraph than to either telephone or write. We shall at once begin the installation of call boxes in all houses, public and private, where wanted, in all places of the size indicated where the Postal has offices. Our messengers will call for and deliver all messages for our wires free of charge. The call boxes will be absolutely free of charge, the only charges will be for messages sent for the Postal lines."

LIKELY TO KILL HIM.

Braddock Drunken Man Hit a Slav on the Head With a Brick.

Charles Baker, aged 40, hit John Balschat, a Slav, aged 35, on the head with a brick, during a drunken fight in Robinson street, Braddock, at 10 o'clock last night, and the victim will probably die. Baker was arrested shortly after the occurrence, but he was too drunk to realize what he had done. The Braddock police lieutenant made an information before Justice Louis F. Holtzman charging Baker with felonious assault and battery with attempt to kill.

Balschat was taken to the McKeesport hospital on the midnight train, and he was still unconscious when placed on board. Baker has a wife and five children residing at No. 843 Halket avenue, Braddock.

Forgery Is Charged.

C. F. Boehm of Mt. Washington, an agent of the Fire Extinguisher and Supply Company, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Samuel Abernathey of South Diamond street on information made by T. F. Handly, manager of the company, charging forgery. Boehm is alleged to have indorsed a check for $15, using the name of the company. He was held in $300 bail.

Burglars Enter Swissvale Station.

The Swissvale station of the Pennsylvania railroad was entered and robbed of a few dollars' worth of stamps early yesterday morning. From a piece of fuse left on the floor, it is thought an attempt to blow open the safe was planned. The rear door was found open, as if the burglars had been frightened away. Entrance was obtained by forcing a window.

mittee showed that Johnson had 446 votes to 211 for Zimmerman.

The indorsement of John H. Clarke for the United States senate was pushed through only after a hard fight. Johnson had determined to force the gold Democrat upon the free silver convention, and although his closest political friends opposed him and he was unable to persuade Bryan to sanction Clarke's candidacy by telegraph, he fought it out and won.

Lentz Had Hopes.

John J. Lentz of Columbus, one of Johnson's warmest supporters, tried hard to secure this honor for himself. He nearly carried the convention off its feet by a ringing radical speech and he might have won had G. M. Saltzgaber of Van Wert yielded to entreaties to retire in Lentz's favor. The first ballot, taken amid the greatest excitement, resulted as follows: Clark, 335; Lentz, 222; Saltzgaber, 125; C. W. Baker, Hamilton, 11; L. A. Russell, Cuyahoga, 4.

Cries of "Clarke's no Democrat," "Let's have no traitors," "Kill the gold bug," and the like were raised as the second roll call began. Delegates scuffled and cursed and yelled, and four times the proceedings were stopped while the sergeants-at-arms and police tried to restore order. The lie was passed again and again, and it was charged in tones which echoed around the great hall that this delegation or that had reported its vote incorrectly. The ballot was finally completed and Clarke was the winner by a comfortable margin.

When the announcement was made C. C. Philbrick of Columbus, until today a warm Johnson man, but always first the friend of Lentz, bawled out: "I see no difference between the bossism of Tom L. Johnson and John R. McLean."

Platform of Socialism.

A. F. Sandles of Ottawa chimed in with "Clarke indorsed Mark Hanna in 1896. Now we are indorsing Clarke. It's the same thing as indorsing Hanna."

Johnson came in for a fierce arraignment at the hands of the Hon. M. A. Daugherty of Lancaster, who was to have presented the name of Mr. Zimmerman to the convention. Mr. Daugherty, who is an eloquent orator, took the platform to speak for the adoption of the minority report on resolutions.

"I only desire to say," he began, "that this minority report is a protest to the Democracy of Ohio against turning our party over to socialism." His opening sentence was received with mingled cheers and cat calls, and he was applauded, hissed, jeered and threatened with violence throughout his address.

Daugherty then declared that Johnson does not believe in his own platform, and quoted Johnson's remarks at the national convention in 1896 to prove the point. Wallace Burch, one of the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow's Hamilton county bolters, sprang to his feet and demanded that Daugherty be denied the further privilege of the floor. "This man," yelled Burch, "gets up to slander the greatest Democrat in Ohio."

Johnson Was Courteous.

Johnson rose and asked that every courtesy be shown Daugherty. "My shoulders," he said, "are broad enough to stand it, and I beg this convention to give Mr. Daugherty a fair opportunity to talk."

So Daugherty proceeded, declaring that the Johnson platform "is a rabid, unreasoning and indiscriminate assault upon all the corporations of the state;" that the "silver question is now shrouded in perpetual oblivion," and that "this is the first time in the history of a state or national Democratic convention that the charge of disloyalty made against Clement L. Vallandingham years ago can justly be repeated."

Daugherty's words fell upon deaf ears, for the platform was adopted by the full Johnson vote. After Johnson and Clarke had been nominated Judge Ulric Sloane, an old-line Democrat of this city, once prominent in the councils of his party, ascended the stage and gravely proposed the nomination of Charles P. Salen, Johnson's Cleveland manager, for lieutenant governor. Judge Sloane fixed Johnson with his eye and screamed: "I believe in consistency, and I want the tail to go with the hide."

Judge Sloan's remarks were greeted with cheers and jeers and he was ruled out of order. The convention had dragged into the evening and the nominations for the minor places on the ticket were made without contests and by a very small representation of the delegates.

Bryanism is Reaffirmed.

The platform refers to national issues as follows:

We, the Democrats of Ohio, reaffirming the declaration on national issues in our platform of 1902, adopted at Sandusky, hereby renew our allegiance to the Democratic party of the nation, and again avow our devotion to the principles of its last national platform. We accordingly condemn colonialism and imperialism, denounce trusts and trust fostering tariffs, repudiate government by injunction and oppose financial monopoly, together with every other legalized monopoly and legalized privilege. Adhering to these principles of the Kansas City platform, we repeat our condemnation of all efforts to renounce or ignore them.

The people are asked to determine whether all state interests are to be sacrificed for the re-election of Hanna as senator.

The platforms favors home rules for counties and cities, assessing boards, the constitutional amendments for classification of property for taxation and single liability of stockholders, laws for public reports of corporations and auditing of the same; various reforms in school laws abolishing the fee system in county offices, the improvement of the Ohio river, maintenance of Ohio canals and a uniform rate of 2 cents per mile on steam railways.

It denounces the proposed amendments for single county representation, governor's veto and classification of cities, government by injunction, free passes for public officials and numerous abuses in the legislature, state and local offices.

Herrick is Satisfied.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—Myron T. Herrick, Republican nominee for governor, when asked for an expression on the nomination of Johnson, said:

"If the nomination is satisfactory to the Democrats of Ohio, I am satisfied. The prospect of Republican success in Ohio next November never was brighter. The party is united, while the opposition is already demoralized and concedes defeat. The experience which the people had in 1893, growing out of the advocacy of revolutionary measures by the Democratic party, was such that the laboring man, the merchant and the manufacturer will not be disposed to again support any schemes or fads which disturb the equilibrium of business. They evidenced this in the Bryan campaigns of 1896 and 1900, and they will demonstrate it more forcibly in November for the principles enunciated by the dominant faction of the Democratic party at the Columbus convention mean practically a reaffirmation of the Chicago and Kansas City platforms, with the addition of Henry George's single tax notions."

CRUSADE ON AGENCIES.

Police Now Getting After Alleged Bogus Employment Agencies.

Inspector Bernard McStay of the First police district yesterday inaugurated a war on employment agencies in Pittsburgh, which, he says, he is doing under orders from Superintendent McTighe. The proprietors of two agencies were arrested on informations sworn to by alleged victims of a plan to relieve poor persons of money and not give them employment in return.

H. D. Ladd and J. Walshan, alleged proprietors of the Empire employment bureau at No. 496 Fourth avenue, were arrested in the afternoon by Special Policemen Sam Free, Peter Angelo and Thomas Duffy on a charge of false pretenses made by Charles Mansfield of Washington, Pa. Mansfield alleges that he paid the men $5, in return for which they promised to secure work for him. He was sent to the wholesale grocery store of T. C. Jenkins, where they refused to employ him and said they had never commissioned anyone to act as agent in securing help. Mansfield was refused the return of his money.

Inspector McStay and Officers Free and Duffy arrested S. Michler and B. Stewart, alleged proprietors of the City employment agency, of No. 411 Seventh avenue. The information was made by Michael Riel of No. 2400 Forbes street. Riel alleges that the agency sent him to two places for employment, after first securing $2 from him. At neither place was anyone wanted. He was also refused a return of his money.

DENOUNCED POLITICIANS.

Brass Molders Pass Resolutions Reasserting Faith in Simon Schleich.

Local union, No. 184, Brass Molders of America, at a meeting last evening, passed resolutions condemning the methods of Allegheny politicians and reasserting faith in one of its members, Simon Schleich, whose reputation had been called into question by one of the meanest pieces of work that ever had been perpetrated in the annals of politics in Allegheny county.

Mr. Schleich, who is a councilman of the Fourth ward of the North Side, had been sent to the brass molders' convention at Cleveland as a delegate from the local union. The day before the vote in Allegheny on the abolition of the delinquent tax office Mr. Schleich received a telegram at Cleveland, signed John Geisler, one of Mr. Schleich's intimate friends, stating that the council meeting had been postponed. It developed that this statement was erroneous and that the person who sent the telegram had forged Mr. Geisler's name to it. There is a reward of $500 for information leading to the identity of the writer of the telegram.

THINK BOTH WILL DIE.

Shooting of Lovers in Hays Borough Likely to Be Double Fatality.

Refusal to marry Helen Ringl seems to have been the start of the trouble that led to the double shooting in Hays borough Monday night. Both the Ringl girl and Waldimir Goerschal, the man who shot himself and the girl, are in a critical condition. Their deaths are matters of only a little time, according to the authorities of the South Side hospital, where they are being cared for.

The girl was visited yesterday by her father and several other relatives. She finally confessed that she had written the notes in English which were credited to her, although she had for some unknown reason pretended before that she could not write and had made her mark on the deposition.

Hundreds at Family Reunion.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—The annual reunion of the Galley family was held in Galley's grove, near here, today. About 250 descendants of Philip Galley, who was one of the early settlers of this region, were in attendance. The secretary of the association has written a voluminous history of the family, which dates back to 1700. A banquet and speeches pertaining to the achievements of the members of the Galley family were the features of today's reunion.

Get In by Water.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Negotiations are well under way for a new steamship line between New York and New Orleans, which will be run primarily in connection with the Gould railway system. If the plans are finally perfected Mr. Gould will have access to New York by water, just as the Harriman system has.

were 16 members present, and that he was needed to make a quorum. When Negley entered the meeting Secretary James W. Clark proceeded to call the roll. While this was being done Committeeman J. R. Wheeler of the Seventh district left the room. This left an attendance of 16 members, or one less than a quorum. Regardless of this fact the committee proceeded to transact business.

Charles S. Crawford read off what was supposed to be a set of rules. They consisted of an authorization of Chairman Verner to appoint a number of committees, which he did later, on a couple of minutes' notice. The task was made easy as he had the list prepared.

Thomas S. Bigelow, as chairman of the fusion committee, made his report and this started the trouble. When it ended the bosses were sorry that they had insisted upon Negley attending the meeting. He told them what he thought of a few men meeting in secret and naming a ticket. He pointed out that everything which had been done was in violation of the principles of the party and that there was much bossism in the Bigelow machine.

Bigelow Sidestepped.

"When Bigelow read of the names of his ticket and announced that the candidates would meet with the approval of the people, I was forced to say what I thought," said Mr. Negley. "To correctly understand my position it is necessary to go back to the June meeting, when the appointment of the fusion committee was authorized. At that time Bigelow offered a type-written resolution for the naming of a committee to confer with other parties. I said then that I would gladly second its adoption if I interpreted it aright.

"It was my understanding that the conferees were simply empowered to arrange a basis of fusion with some party and then report back to the whole committee, and it would select the candidates. At that time Bigelow and Clark told me and the committee that that was the purpose of the resolution. I then voted for it. Today when a motion was made to ratify the selections made by the fusion committee, I objected. Attention was called to what had happened at the June meeting and Bigelow simply hemmed and hawed. No direct answer was given me. The vote was taken and I was alone in opposition to the ratification, the other 15 members voting to ratify. I did not oppose because of any objection to the personnel of the ticket, but because of the method of its selection. I told the committeemen that the ticket had been named without our advice and that the plan of two or three men nominating candidates was against the principles of the party. Any Citizen should be given an opportunity to compete for the nomination.

Verner Could not Hear.

"After the viva voce vote had been taken, some misguided follower of the machine in the rear of the room, who evidently did not know what was happening, moved that the yeas and nays be taken. I seconded the motion. Clark looked at Verner and Verner looked at Clark. They both knew that it would not be well to have a record of the vote. It was the first time I ever knew that Verner's hearing was defective, but it must have been. There was a momentary lull and then the chairman showed a desire to consider other business. I did not insist on the yeas and nays and the matter was dropped.

"Under all parliamentary rules of which I have ever heard, the meeting of today was illegal. It takes a quorum to do business in any body. I was the only one of the four members of the Sixth district present. U. M. Beck, C. M. Shoaf and S. R. Barnett were absent. Beck was one of the conferees. Mayor W. B. Hays and T. C. Jones of McKeesport, also members of the fusion committee, were not in attendance."

Negley was asked if the committee adopted a platform for the fusion ticket to stand upon, it having been said that this would be attended to at the meeting. He replied:

"Oh, it does not need a platform. It stands in the mud."

Bigelow Will Not Retire.

Thomas S. Bigelow announced last night that there was no truth to the published statement that he intends to retire from politics. He says that while Murry A. Verner will have charge of the fusion campaign, he intends to take an active part in the contest.

At the Citizens committee meeting Chairman Verner announced these committees:

Finance—T. S. Bigelow, chairman; E. J. McIlvain, W. H. Server, John Dettmer, W. B. Hays, J. S. Wightman, J. J. Booth, U. M. Beck, F. R. Agnew, T. C. Jones.

May Do Some Ripping.

There is much speculation as to the necessity of a committee on contests. As the body is now constituted there are no contests pending. The naming of the committee is taken as evidence that Bigelow intends to remove the members of the committee that are not willing to follow his dictatorship. The selection of Mayor Hays as the head of the campaign committee means that he is to have charge of the active end of the fight this fall.

Col. J. M. Guffey, leader of the state Democracy, yesterday made the following statement about the convention to be held in Harrisburg next week:

"The convention on September 2 will be well attended and will be free from strife. Aside from a general declaration of party principles, the platform will be confined entirely to state issues.

"The nomination of Senator DeWalt of Lehigh for auditor general, Senator Hill of Wayne, for state treasurer, and Judge Calvin Rayburn of Armstrong, for superior court, are generally conceded. For the other superior court nomination Representative Ammerman of Montour, has been suggested."

There were no developments yesterday in the county camp of the Republicans.

THIRTY CENTS WAS THE CAUSE OF A MURDER

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Bass Cook shot and killed Noah Sloan yesterday near Oceana, W. Va. Both are well-known citizens of Wyoming county, and the altercation which led to the killing of Sloan was over 30 cents, which Sloan claimed Cook owed him. Sloan went to Cook's home armed with a revolver. The latter was standing in the doorway, when he saw Sloan approaching, and he fired upon him.

LITTLE LAD WEPT AT SAD PARTING

Father is Arrested for Kidnaping Him and They Are Separated in Jail.

CAME HERE FROM SYRACUSE

With tears streaming down his face, sorrowful that he should be separated from his father, who had been his sole and constant companion for several weeks, 4-year-old Charles Schuyler was placed in the hands of the matron at central station yesterday afternoon while his father, Charles F. Schuyler, of Syracuse, N. Y., was led to a lonely cell. The man is charged with kidnaping the child and with violating an order of the supreme court of New York state.

Schuyler, who is 35 years old, is the father of three children. Some time ago he and his wife, Mrs. Catherine E. Schuyler, were legally separated in their home in Syracuse. The supreme court of New York state made the mother the legal guardian of the children. On June 27 the little boy disappeared, and his father left the city on the same day. Chief of Police Charles R. Wright of Syracuse, telegraphed the man's description to Supt. Thomas A. McQuaide of the Pittsburgh detective bureau, and Detectives Oscar J. Seifert and George Cole were detailed on the case.

Yesterday morning the detectives located Schuyler in Braddock. He was in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company as a bricklayer. They secured the child at a boarding house and brought the two to Central station, Pittsburgh. The little boy did not realize what was happening to his father until they were about to be separated.

The boy clung to his father and wept piteously. They had a tearful parting and were taken to their separate places. The father told the detectives that last night would be the first night since June 27 that the little fellow would not fall asleep in his arms. Schuyler frankly confessed the wrong-doing and agreed to go to Syracuse peacefully and without requisition papers. He and the boy will be taken there by Detective Seifert this morning.

Pittsburghers Chosen Officers.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ridgeview Park association the election for directors resulted in the Rev. N. G. Miller of Ligonier, Thomas A. Smith of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. W. C. Weaver of Homestead, being chosen for a term of three years, and Alexander Wilson of Jamestown, for one year. The board organized by the election of the Rev. Mr. Miller, president; Mr. Wilson, secretary, and Mr. Smith, treasurer. W. H. Smith and R. L. Boggs of McKeesport and J. L. McKee of Pittsburgh were elected auditors for the ensuing year. The Chautauqua assembly will meet at Ridgeview next year.

Had Another Man's Bankbook.

James Maloney, a cigar maker, 27 years old, of Penline street, Pittsburgh, was arrested yesterday by Capt. James Wilson of the Allegheny police force in the Dollar Savings Fund & Trust Company's office, Federal and South Diamond streets, upon the telephonic request of the officers of that bank. The man had presented a deposit book belonging to J. J. Jourdan, a prisoner in the Allegheny county jail, where Maloney was confined until a few days ago. Capt. Wilson alleges that on Tuesday Maloney, with the same deposit book, obtained $60.

HEALTH BUREAU MAY BE PURGED

Allegheny Councilmanic Committee May Investigate Smallpox Conditions.

TALK OF CLOSING SCHOOLS

Supt. McLaughlin Arouses Dr. Batt's Ire by Misstating Facts in a Case—The Pittsburgh Bureau is Busy Vaccinating.

Although Supt. J. A. McLaughlin of the Allegheny bureau of health, says the smallpox conditions in the Charles street district are well in hand, the ravages of the disease are causing that department no end of worriment and it was again suggested yesterday that the public schools near the infested neighborhood be kept closed for an indefinite time. It is rumored that on account of the start smallpox was permitted to get in the Pleasant Valley section, McLaughlin's department may undergo an investigation by a committee of councils.

Neglect of duty in not exercising the proper precautions may possibly be made against the Allegheny health bureau. McLaughlin yesterday ordered large quantities of disinfectant soap and chloride solutions which will be distributed to all families in the infected parts of the city, regardless of their condition. The chlorides will be used in washing clothing and linen.

The death of Paul Borckman, aged 25 years, of Jackson street, was reported yesterday morning as having occurred the night before in the Allegheny municipal hospital as a result of smallpox. In this case it is said that had the department exercised more care the victim would not have died. He was taken from No. 110 Jackson street, August 20, to the municipal hospital. McLaughlin said yesterday that the disease was contracted by Borckman while at a fishing camp. He said: "I would like to call the attention of Dr. W. R. Batt, the state quarantine officer at large, to this case, for the reason that I think he could find a very profitable field for his energies if he would leave the city affairs to us and go around these fishing camps and investigate their condition."

Dr. Batt takes issue with McLaughlin over the latter statement, which appeared in an afternoon paper. The quarantine officer wrote the superintendent a letter last night setting forth the facts in the case of Paul Borckman. According to Dr. Batt's letter, the man contracted the disease in Allegheny, and did not visit any fishing camp. The letter reads as follows:

Pittsburgh, August 26, 1908.

Major James McLaughlin,
Superintendent of the Bureau of Health,
Allegheny, Pa.

Dear Sir—I note your remarks in the public press of today's issue regarding the case of Paul Borckman, who died of smallpox in the Municipal hospital of Allegheny City last night; also your suggestion "that a profitable field might be found for my energies in investigating the fishing camps," in one of which you claim Borckman contracted the disease. As you seem to be totally unfamiliar with the facts in the case, permit me to present them to you for the benefit of your department, as well as for future interviews which you may furnish the daily press.

Paul Borckman of Allegheny City left the latter place, in company with his brother, for Conneaut Lake, on Saturday, August 8. He was taken sick at Conneaut Lake on August 15 or 16, and returned to Allegheny City on August 18, at which time the eruption was making its appearance. He did not visit a fishing camp, but stopped at a hotel. As but seven or eight days elapsed from the date of his leaving Allegheny City and the beginning of his illness, it would preclude the possibility of his having contracted the disease after leaving Allegheny City, and as he had not been away from the city for a month prior to this time, it may be safely concluded that the disease was contracted at his home.

I shall be very glad to assist you in clearing up the source of infection of any other equally obscure (?) cases. Very Truly yours,

WILMER R. BATT,
Quarantine Officer at Large. No. 1329 Locust street.

Since the disease first appeared in Charles street the city, through its health bureau officials, has vaccinated about 500 people. Dr. S. M. Rinehart, the county quarantine officer, says that the people, he believes, will lend their assistance in seeing that everybody is vaccinated. He declares that there is more smallpox in Western Pennsylvania than in any other part of the country.

Supt. Moore of the Pittsburgh bureau of health, is now ordering 6,000 quills a week and the bureau is vaccinating about 3,000 persons a week. Moore believes that vaccination is a sure preventive and backs up his belief by citing the patients in the Municipal hospital. Among the number, he said, there are no school children, which is a proof that vaccination is accomplishing the desired effect.

There were 11 cases of smallpox reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of police yesterday, as follows: Eugene Gray, 28 years old, No. 1 Formosa alley; Harry Luckenberger, 23 years, No. 29 Summers street; Mrs. Drusilla Williams, 35 years, No. 609 Morgan street; Samuel McKain, 22 years, No. 1810 Enoch street; Mrs. Sarah Lindsay, 34 years, No. 43 Carson street; George Ross, 42 years, No. 5824 Ellsworth avenue; Elizabeth V. Stock, 9 months, No. 555 Lowell street; Helen S. Chappell, 17 years, No. 2820 Bedford avenue; George Summer, 11 years, No. 3519 Mulberry alley; Esther Wells, 22 years, No. 3104 Penn avenue; Annie Greenwood, 23 years, No. 3 Francis street.

E. H. McGillium, aged 26 years, of No. 325 Fisk street, and Mrs. Sarah Lindsay, aged 34 years, of No. 34 Carson street, were reported as having the smallpox late last night.

Inspector William D. Shannon of the Pittsburgh health bureau, and his officers, had considerable trouble on the South Side last night in taking Mrs. Lindsay to the hospital. When the case was discovered in the house a number of boarders broke quarantine and escaped. One man, William Givens, aged 45 years, left the house, and when he returned attempted to interfere with Shannon. He was arrested and held until the ambulance drove away, and then placed back in the quarantined house.

E. H. McGillium of Fisk street, visited a physician on Tuesday and was told he had the smallpox. He was not satisfied with this diagnosis so he stayed at his boarding house Tuesday night and visited another physician yesterday morning. He was again told he had smallpox and advised to go to the Municipal hospital. McGillium then went to the hospital. In the meantime the case had been reported to the board of health and officers were sent to Lawrenceville to quarantine the house and remove the victim. When they arrived the man had disappeared. The police at No. 5 station learned about 3 o'clock that he was in the hospital.

POLICEMAN EXONERATED.

Allegheny Officer's Kick Was Secondary Cause of McCleary's Death.

Policeman George Carothers of Allegheny was yesterday exonerated from blame for the death of William McCleary, who expired in the Allegheny General hospital last Monday. Physicians testified at the coroner's inquest that a kick administered by the policeman a week previous was a secondary cause of death and the officer was allowed to go free.

McCleary was kicked by the policeman on August 16. Soon afterward he complained to Policeman John C. Beck about the treatment he received and two hours later was sent to the hospital. An operation was performed, but the patient died. Physicians testified that death was primarily due to internal disorders.

Our Out-of-Season and Underprice Fur Sale.

The success of yesterday's Special Sale of Furs was highly encouraging. We fully understand that the introduction of anything extraordinary, more especially to attempt a sale of fur garments in 80 or 90 degree weather—must necessarily be on an educational plane.

There is this to be said about it: women like furs—they are going to have furs if their pocketbook will stand it.

If furs can be bought now at 40% below what they will be sold for in October, why not buy at present?

This morning we will put the matter in a stronger light—so strong that no woman can fail to understand the meaning: Any fur neckpiece or coat purchased now and found unsatisfactory, can be exchanged in October, or the price will be refunded—whichever you like.

That offer is made simply because we are in a position to absolutely know that the furs we are selling will be 40% higher when the regular season sets in.

Another offer: Women who do not wish to care for their furs at present, can either pay the purchase money or make a small deposit upon their selection, and goods will be held until wanted.

We have quoted in a concise list several times the various low prices upon Seal Coats, Near-Seal Coats, Electric Seal Coats and small Furs of all descriptions. This morning we propose giving only one quotation—that on a dozen Seal Coats that came in by express yesterday afternoon.

$200 today will buy one of these Coats that next October will sell for not one cent less than $300. Thursday, August 27, 1903.

The report that the coroner's investigation into the death of the late J. O. Brown is to be still further protracted is not at all acceptable to public opinion. The conduct of this case has exceeded all bounds of right and propriety, and it ought to be stopped. So far as public interests are concerned more than enough information has been elicited. The private interests now making use of public authority for their own purposes should be compelled to prosecute their inquiries at their own expense and not at the expense of the county.

There were premature reports yesterday of a decisive victory for the navy in the war game at Portland, Me. In the evening both forces were apparently preparing for an engagement during the night, but no battle had been fought before dark. The game is being played on both sides with earnestness and skill, and whichever may win in the end it will be as distinct a gain for the other arm of the service as for the victor—that is, in experience. There is a sort of military tradition that naval attacks cannot be effective against land fortifications. That may be true. Even so, it may be possible for a naval attack to cover the landing of an army to achieve the conquest by indirection. We shall see. In any event, army and navy should gain valuable knowledge of war possibilities that may some day be useful.

Arkansas produces the latest example of strenuous politics in the southwest. Gov. Davis of that state is a candidate for reelection, and Judge Wood of the state supreme court is bitterly opposed to his having the honor of a second term. Yesterday Judge Wood made a speech. To indicate that he is an active candidate, Gov. Davis was present and fired a volley of questions at the jurist, giving no time between for answers, and mounting the speaker's stand. Judge Wood used his good right hand and the governor fell six feet to the ground. Friends prevented further trouble at the moment, though the southwestern code may demand a duel. Really the incident might close with dishonors even. Gov. Davis' election methods are too strenuous for good taste, and Judge Wood's arguments with the fist are more forcible than elegant. Let us have peace, and let us have it without any more fighting for it.

The same policy whose application in Finland is driving the national leaders into exile has been applied by Russia to Armenia upon an enormous scale. In the Armenian provinces of Russia there has been resistance to the Russianizing of the people. Schools reorganized in conformity with Russian educational requirements have been refused funds by the local authorities and denied recognition by the Armenian church. To break down this opposition the entire property of the Armenian church in Russia, with an exception in favor of Armenian churches in St. Petersburg and Moscow, has been sequestrated by the state, to be administered as a trust fund for the benefit of the Armenians, but under the regulations which the Russian government sees proper to impose. Instead of controlling their own resources the schools and other institutions of the Armenian church will receive their support from Russian authority conditioned upon their observance of the required conditions. The determination of the Russian government not to tolerate the growth of any organized nationality apart from Russian nationality is strikingly displayed by this sweeping measure, which only an autocratic government could conceive and execute.

A new kind of trust that is having a prosperous career in the grain growing states is the organization of farmers for the purpose of owning their own elevators and marketing their crops through their own agents, instead of selling to dealers. So tight is the organization of these trusts that at many points it is practically impossible for dealers to buy any grain at all direct from farmers unless they offer a considerable advance over the market price, and they are liable to find that grain is unloaded upon them for the profit of the society. A farmer who belongs to the society may sell to a dealer provided he turns a quarter of a cent a bushel into the treasury of the society. Middlemen and speculators have tried every possible expedient to break up these farmer trusts, and have even secured the cooperation of buyers in Chicago. The farmer trusts have met this move by buying an elevator there, to receive their shipments, and as spot grain brings the market price irrespective of ownership they are on top. The Rockwell (Iowa) Farmers' Co-operative society is the one whose organization serves as the general model. Such societies have spread over Iowa; there are about 25 in Nebraska and about twice that number in Kansas.

The seriousness of the situation in Macedonia is shown by the fact that the Turkish government has called out all the European reserves, which will bring the total number of troops in the field up to 350 battalions, or almost double the force engaged in the war with Greece. Turkey is in no condition to sustain the strain of maintaining such an army in the field, and the magnitude of the efforts made will increase the necessity of reaching some permanent settlement. To fill the country with ill-paid, half-starved troops will introduce fresh elements of disorder. Terrible scenes are now taking place, but the difficulty of obtaining authentic news prevents any proper appreciation of events. According to some reports a marked feature of the situation is the commission of Bulgarian atrocities upon Greeks. Conflict between those elements of the Christian population is not improbable, as the Greeks are opposed to the revolutionary movement, and are hence an object of suspicion and hostility of the insurgent bands. Meanwhile, it should be remembered that this scene of anarchy is the creation of European diplomacy. The province of Macedonia was created and placed under Turkish jurisdiction by the congress of Berlin.

The ordinance imposing a tax of 5 per cent upon the gross receipts of public service corporations has been hung up in councils for about a year, and there are no signs of any intention to make the corporations pay for the enormously valuable privileges they enjoy. Councilman Stevenson now proposes to introduce a tax of $1 a linear foot of single track. This is at the rate of $5,280 a mile. In Toronto the street railway pays the city $800 a mile of single track, and must lay tracks on such streets as the city authorities designate. At present 88 miles of railway are operated. In addition the railway company pays from 8 to 20 per cent of the gross receipts, according to a sliding scale by which the city's percentage increases with the receipts. The railway company does this and prospers, although during the morning and evening hours there is practically a three-cent fare and school children during school hours can buy tickets at the rate of 10 for 25 cents. Ordinary tickets good at all hours are sold at the rate of six for 25 cents, and on Sunday such tickets are sold at the rate of seven for 25 cents. The rate proposed by Councilman Stevenson, if applied in Toronto would, however, make the company pay about twice as much as it is now doing under the combined mileage and gross receipts taxes. Councilman Stevenson's proposal is a step in the right direction, but further consideration will doubtless lead to some modification.

Providing for the Future.

In an interview at Washington, during his visit at that place to inspect the work going on there to provide sand filtration, Director Bigelow said that while the 25 acres of filter beds now designed for Pittsburgh will be enough to supply the whole city, yet additional area should be provided in view of the probable extension of the city limits. He said:

> Probably within two years Allegheny, McKeesport, Braddock, Wilkinsburg and many other surrounding boroughs will be brought into the city making a total population of about 800,000, and they will also have to have filtered water. Therefore in making our plans now we are obliged to look further ahead than the mere natural growth of the city.

Director Bigelow's ability to take broad views is a well-known characteristic. There can be no doubt but that eventually the Pittsburgh district will have a municipal area commensurate with the true size of the community, and nothing would do more to hasten the event than the fact that Pittsburgh municipal government assures to all within its jurisdiction a pure water supply. In providing for present needs prudence dictates that consideration should also be given to the needs of the future.

Still, it would be a mistake to think that the exercise of such foresight will swell the cost of sand filtration. With the introduction of the meter system, a plant capable of supply 75,000,000 gallons a day will be sufficient for 750,000 people, and if the saving through the meter system be so great as has been realized by other cities, such a plant will be enough for a community of 800,000. It will, therefore, be a long time before any extensions of the plant will become necessary, and when they do the feature of filtration involves simply additional filter beds and accompanying pumping source. If the city extends up the Monongahela it is hardly likely that it will be found advantageous to furnish the water supply for that region from the filtration plant as now located. As the city extends in the way contemplated by Director Bigelow the new territory will have to be provided for by additional plants located with a view to economy of distribution.

The Only Way.

Our Washington dispatches report that the congressional leaders are opposed to the idea of an extra session, and are endeavoring to persuade the president to abandon his idea of calling one. They also think it would be injudicious for him to make the financial question prominent in his message in view of the fact that party disagreement on that subject is so wide that the prospect of accomplishing any legislation is exceedingly doubtful.

On the other hand, H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago, who has been collecting information from many sources for President Roosevelt about the general feeling as to the advisability of financial legislation, says that he believes that the president will succeed in having a financial measure introduced and passed in the extra session. Mr. Kohlsaat said this fresh from a conference with the president at Oyster Bay. There can be no doubt that despite the disapproval of the congressional leaders the president intends to call an extra session, and also to recommend financial legislation.

That such differences of opinion should exist between the president and the congressional leaders is nothing unusual. It is a normal tendency of our politics. The habitual disposition of the congressional leaders has always been to avoid new issues, as they necessarily disturb existing adjustments. If new issues are not altogether avoidable then the disposition is to minimize them as much as possible by a policy of compromise. Hence congressional legislation, unless directed by executive policy, is always of a make-shift character, going no further than is necessary to deal with the situation as revealed by the relative strength of congressional factions. The process takes scant account of public opinion, except in its local manifestations in the various congressional districts, and may in fact misrepresent altogether national opinion. The course of silver legislation was a remarkable proof of this. The bullion purchase bill, which nearly wrecked national finances, passed congress by a large majority, as a compromise measure, although it was condemned by sound opinion and the policy it embodied was emphatically repudiated by the people as soon as it was made an issue at the polls.

It is the rule of our politics that no vexed question is ever settled except by executive policy. Whatever may be the inclination of congress it cannot avoid an issue which the president insists upon making. This is a consequence of the trenchant nature of presidential authority. The action stands out for approval or condemnation, and no neutral ground is possible. Hence all important political issues have been shaped by executive policy, and in making financial legislation a party issue, President Roosevelt is pursuing the only course by which unsettled questions are ever put into shape for settlement.

Tom Johnson in Control.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland is the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio by virtue of his control of the party machine. He will run on a socialist platform. His man Clark of Cleveland is the indorsed candidate for United States senator to oppose Marcus A. Hanna. Johnson owns the state committee more completely than last year and Ohio will send a delegation to the Democratic national convention next year favoring his candidacy for president, opposing all plans of the "reorganizers" and ready to out-Bryan Mr. Bryan in socialist and Populist propaganda. Such are the results of yesterday's convention at Columbus.

Last week, when it became apparent that the nomination for governor depended wholly upon delegates whose seats were contested The Gazette pointed out that the advantage was with Johnson, who obtained control of the party organization last year when he nominated the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati for secretary of state and conducted his campaign with a red automobile and a circus tent. The only doubt was whether the Cleveland boss would use his power arbitrarily. The convention yesterday proved him willing to use it ruthlessly. He rode rough shod over the opposition, throwing out delegates whose claims to seats were clear and regular. They were not even given a respectful hearing.

The summary ejectment of delegates from Miami and Hamilton county was more than equaled in the cavalier treatment given minority reports from the committees on rules and resolutions. Party wheelhorses who tried to speak for the minority were howled down by Johnson delegates and the mob of claquers in the hall. Democracy fled from the assembly room and Johnsonism was enthroned. It was an inauspicious opening of the actual campaign, as offensive to the old-time Democrats, the followers of Allen G. Thurman and George Hoadly as the preliminary speech at Springfield by William J. Bryan, in which he referred to former President Cleveland as a bunco steerer.

Ohio has tolerated almost as many political freaks as bleeding Kansas and wind-swept Nebraska. Strange conceits have leaped into life and flourished from the historic banks of the Maumee to the Hocking valley; from the Mahoning and Duck creek to the Miami canal. But none of them ever carried the Buckeye state off its feet. Under the froth and fury there is the preponderant common sense of a majority that has refused to be misled. Tom Johnsonism is only the latest excrescence, with less real excuse than the Golden Rule Sam Jonesism that preceded it. In November it will be properly buried under an avalanche of votes. The solid Democrats have been hurled under the car and the most queer-brained Republican in the state can hardly be induced to support such a candidate or movement.

Cost of Water.

In another column is printed a letter from a citizen who is sojourning in Cleveland. It fully bears out all that has been printed in The Gazette concerning the economy secured from a metered water service. The price of water in Cleveland—comparatively pure water, obtained by tunneling far out under Lake Erie—is shown to be very much less than the rates paid for very inferior water in Pittsburgh. This is not complimentary to this city. We realize that. But how shall we improve our standards except by finding and recognizing our faults? Once we know where we fail we may mend our ways.

There is nothing in the physical characteristics of Cleveland and Pittsburgh that should make water cost, say five times as much here as there. It requires just as much power to pump Lake Erie water as to pump Allegheny river water, the microbes adding nothing to the difficulty. It requires the same sort of pipeage for distribution at one place as the other. If there is any advantage to either it should be at Pittsburgh, where fuel is near at hand and where piping is made. The only rational conclusion is that Pittsburgh consumers are heavily overtaxed for their water supply. It is well known the water bureau of this city earns surplus revenues that are devoted to other purposes. It is equally apparent that more water is pumped than is used. We do not pretend to say what proportion is wasted from leaky mains or from neglected house fittings. We do say, however, that introduction of meters would locate the waste and be the means of stopping it. That would be worth thousands of dollars a year, far more than enough to pay all expenses of maintenance of the filtration plant. Our correspondent asks no idle question.

With a florist on the fusion ticket the candidates are in a position to furnish the bouquets they will throw at themselves this fall. Also the flowers for their political funeral.

One of David B. Hill's recent allegations is that Roosevelt is spectacular. Some statesmen are temporarily out of that classification because of circumstances beyond their control.

The announcement that Emperor William is anxious that Germany should lead in automobiling is not surprising when it is considered that he is a war lord of the deepest dye.

The report that the Democratic convention at Harrisburg next week will be quiet harmonizes well with the absence of enthusiasm in the preliminary expenditures.

As Col. Guffey has announced the Democratic state ticket, that cut-rate convention hall is really an expensive luxury, in spite of all that has been said.

The repulse given the silver conference commissioners by the Russian government will cause Mr. Bryan to add Russia to the enemy's country.

The Chicago millionaire who divides $1,000,000 among relatives just to see what they would do with it is willing to pay high for information.

Mayor Falkenstein may not be a stay-at-home mayor, but when he did arrive he got there with both feet.

Immediately after the completion of the fusion ticket there was a notable drop in the temperature.

Perhaps Colombia would like Uncle Sam to pay over that $10,000,000 as a guarantee of good faith.

Carrie Nation is probably of the opinion that Pittsburgh is a good town to pass through or go around.

The Johnson circus at Columbus was opened with prayer, but the performers didn't seem to mind it.

When the Pittsburgh police bureau is aroused there is no stopping it. Is there, Mrs. Nation?

This is where Sir Thomas begins to breathe hard, but no winds escape the Reliance's sails.

This is a quiet season in Wall street, but no one, even in Wall street, seems to regret it.

With the circus gone there will be only the board of trade carnival to invite showers.

Mr. Zimmerman of Springfield, O., at least knows what it was that struck him.

Perhaps the fusion candidates will try to get along without a platform this year.

Anyway, Tom L. Johnson will make a handsome political corpse.

It looks as if Shamrock III. was named to lose three straight.

The fusion slate is now ready for the November smashing.

Too much Johnson for Zimmerman.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

City Water Tax.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir—The citizens of Pittsburgh pay a good, round price for their typhoid germ laden water at the present time. What will they be obliged to pay for filtered water when (?) they get it? Residents in Cleveland, O., pay from $6 to $9 a year under the meter system for a 10-room home.

Pittsburghers pay from $20 to $25 a year for water under the old system. Cleveland furnishes meters at $6.50, and installs the same at $3.75, making total cost to owner of home $10.25. And he is charged 40 cents for 1,000 cubic feet of water, or 5⅜ cents per 1,000 gallons. I understand Pittsburgh's liberal offer to owners of homes is 18 cents per 1,000 gallons, or more than three times the price paid in Cleveland for Lake Erie water. Why should germ laden Allegheny water cost so much more?

GEORGE H.

Cleveland, O., August 24, 1903.

Cut Out the Sewage.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir:—Referring to the pure water question as it will be years before we can enjoy the benefits of filtration (at the present rate of speed) why don't the city move the Negley Run sewer below the dam the government is constructing at Brilliant? Things are in a deplorable condition when the contamination of the water is allowed to exist in such a manner. It is little short of criminal negligence. The coffer dam backs the water instead of having free passageway as heretofore. Please investigate.

J. E. METCALFE.

Carson street, Pittsburgh, August 25, 1903.

Lower Davis Island Dam.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir:—There has been a great amount of controversy on the subject of the navigation of the Allegheny river, and particularly a fight against the Sixth-street bridge for the interfering with the navigation of the Allegheny river. I believe from my standpoint that the Sixth street bridge is a legal structure originally built under the charter granted by the state of Pennsylvania, the Allegheny river being considered a local stream and the bridge, as it is located at present, is a great public highway. Now, a word to the lawmakers of our nation—how this obstruction to navigation may be removed. I will make the following suggestions, which I am sure will be one of the greatest enterprises of the age, to-wit: Commence 15 miles up the Allegheny river and deepen the river at least five feet and straighten the channel for the outlet of the water to a point, say, five miles below Pittsburgh. The straightening of the river would increase the current so there would be at least from five to eight feet less of a rise along the Allegheny river, thereby relieving many of our manufacturing establishments from shutting down from three to five times a year on account of high water, and thus make amends for the neglect of government officials allowing the river to be filled up on both sides from a point above Sharpsburg to Brunots island. In this matter of deepening the river to get rid of the overflow our lawmakers might be referred to the deepening of the Mississippi river and the relief it gave to the planters on the "balize," or the land near the mouth of the said river. In conclusion I have reason to believe that our congressmen would readily take hold of this matter if properly laid before them, particularly by a petition signed by the property owners along the Allegheny river.

The Quiet Observer.

There is a garden in her face,

A heavenly paradise is that place,
Wherein all pleasant fruits do grow.
There cherries hang that none may buy,

—An Old Song.

Can you see her face—you know whose—limned and deftly touched in the lines of this old love song?

No doubt the fellow who wrote it could see a picture therein—a perfect counterpart of the one in his heart.

As a matter of course he was in love. He would have to be that he might write a love song that would live so long—from 1606 to the present hour. Indeed, it may have been written long prior to that time, as that is the date borne by the song book "An Howres Recreation in Musike." The name of the author is not given, but Richard Alison set the lines to music, and they have been sung by every generation since.

The man doesn't live that can write a love song that will live for years, much less for centuries, unless he is deeply in love—not the fitful fever that burns and dies out like a brush heap, but the real thing.

In very truth it is not the man speaking, but the soul speaking through him.

Of course you know her.

If you don't you had better join the army, or go somewhere off to one side of the great social highway. You are not built right—the man whose heart has not been touched with love for lovely woman

"Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils;
The motions of his spirit are dull as night,
And his affections dark as Erebus.
Let no such man be trusted."

While Shakespeare wrote this for "the man that hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds," it fits the other fellow equally well.

She is attending the teachers' institute this week, as you may know. Of course you know it, as you know your very heart that the garden in her face is the prettiest in the lot.

Some of those with flower gardens on their hats that rival the famed hanging gardens of—say, where were they, or who owned them, and why were the hung up instead of being stretched out on the ground?

Ask Dr. Harris, or the professor who wears a nosegay.

Anyway, some of the flower-bedecked teachers may succeed in making a more brilliant showing, but they can't eclipse her.

Is it any wonder he means to take her away from the schoolhouse and give her a house of her own to keep and manage, thereby relieving her from the necessity of working for wages? He may allow her to work some for him, but that is not his present intention. And he'll take her sure, and she'll let him. Can you blame her?

* * * * *

And why not take the whole bunch, and let the men do the teaching?

If men are so much better teachers than women as their wages indicate, it is very wrong to keep women at the business. The youth of this country is entitled to the best there is, and to palm off a cheap article is as imprudent as it is unwise.

But if women teachers are as good and efficient as men teachers, give them as good pay.

It is contended by some—many, in fact—that boys should be taught by men after having passed out of the primary schools. They argue that boys are naturally inclined to imitate men, to give better heed to them than to women.

There is something in this, don't you think?

A mere male teacher might not be any improvement; but a schoolmaster might make a different and a better showing.

To the outsider the greatest need of the times is for discipline in our schools—not more of the same sort that is now in vogue, but discipline that will bring a boy down to date and compel him to do things that are good for him whether he wants to or not. Without discipline of the right sort a boy is a dangerous thing, a menace to society, for without discipline there can be no morals and without morals a boy cannot be developed into a dependable man.

Discipline is suggestive of force, compelling force, courage and persistence. These are what make men strong, great and useful in the world.

* * * * *

While there is as fine a lot of teachers congregating in Carnegie hall this week as the sun shines on, there are others. And there have been others from away, away back, one of whom you may have heard. His name was Confucius. He lived about 2,500 years ago, and China was his home. Life was his chief study, and he cared little where man came from, or where he was going.

He separated mankind into two great classes; the wise and knowing, and the dull and stupid. To attain the ideal, therefore, education is necessary. Not merely education in reading, writing and arithmetic; not merely the education of the schools, but a study of everything which constitutes life.

He said there were four things necessary to raise an individual to the level of the superior man, which were, as expressed in his own words:

"To serve my father as I would require my son to serve me; to serve my eldest brother as I would require my younger brother to serve me; to behave to a friend as I would require him to behave to me; to be earnest in practicing the virtues of life and to be careful in speaking about them."

This does not differ greatly from the teachings of the catechisms of both Protestant and Catholic churches. Here is his chief, or golden rule of life:

"My duty toward my neighbor is to love him as myself and to do to all men as I would they should do unto me. To love, honor and succor my father and mother; to honor and obey the civil authorities; to submit myself to my governors, spiritual pastors, and masters."

* * * * *

Confucius was a stickler for discipline, by which he proposed to maintain order and prevent waste of energy in confusion. For happiness he relied upon unselfishness.

His ideal man is one who seeks culture for the good of others. In other words, unselfishness must characterize the superior man. Confucius climbed up the ladder reaching to the ideal in the following way:

You must obtain knowledge by investigation. You must attain as complete knowledge as you possibly can. That was the first step.

Your knowledge being complete, your thoughts must be sincere.

Your thoughts being sincere, then your hearts must be rectified.

Your hearts being rectified, then your person must be cultivated.

Your person being cultivated, then your families must be well regulated.

Your families being well regulated, then your cities must be rightly governed.

Your cities being rightly governed, the whole empire must be tranquil and happy.

* * * * *

The ultimate result of his teachings was the tranquility of the nation. To this end the graces necessary to be cultivated are virtue, then valor, then benevolence, then loyalty, then reverence, then faithfulness, then the government of the family, then filial piety, then friendship, and, lastly, the right government of the state.

Although he had many opportunities of advancement if he would cease teaching some phases of his philosophy, he lived a life of poverty, and never repined at the absence of wealth. He would say: "Give me rice to eat, with water to drink, and my bended arm for my pillow, and I am contented and happy. Riches and honor acquired by wrong-doing are to me as floating clouds."

It doth seem, therefore, that while we are the people there have been people here before who knew a few things which we are willing to concede to be right and proper.

While it may tax our pride heavily to admit that such an ancient as Confucius knew the same that we know, and more; and not only taught as well as we teach, but better, still it is only fair and just and honest for us to concede it, and to give the ancient schoolmaster due credit.

Be not puffed up, but give credit where credit is due, that you may be worthy of credit yourselves.

Needs a Thrashing.

Turkey has begun to cringe and plead, but that does not seem to be a good reason why the thrashing should not be judiciously proceeded with. It is for Turkey's own good.—Indianapolis News.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Politics in New York city is in a chaotic state. With a municipal campaign close at hand and the certainty that it will be bitterly fought, no matter who may be the champions put forth, the truth is that actually no one knows who will be the candidates on either side. That is to say, it is not decided who shall carry the banner of Tammany, in the hope of planting it over the mayor's chair in City hall, while the fusionists, who have been considering Mayor Low as the logical candidate to succeed himself, are wondering whether a better man may not be selected after all. Mayor Low is a conservative person, and he says little about it. He is said to be willing to take up the burden again if it is desired by his friends, and if it appears that it will be for the best interests of Greater New York for him to represent the law and order element once more. That he does not want it is understood. He is a wealthy man who loves the ease and quiet of his library and to whom the mud-slinging of a political contest is particularly distasteful. But if he is nominated he will run, and run well. Several men are talked of on the Tammany side, but nothing has been settled. The only candidate who is sure of himself and his intention is "Big Bill" Devery. He wants to be mayor and he does not care who knows it.

Sam Parks in a Gloomy Mood.

Sam Parks is gloomily sitting in his cell in the Tombs waiting for the moment when he will be carried off to Sing Sing. He was sentenced to not less than two and a half years today. His attorneys hope to get him out on bail while they appeal from the verdict found in the recorder's court last week, but Sam is not building high hopes on that. He is too sick to care much, apparently. When one looks at his emaciated form and careworn face, one cannot help speculating on the question of how much physical strength has to do with physical courage. Parks is a fighter to desperation, even though the doctors say he has one foot in the grave.

Died to Avoid Surgeon's Knife.

Three or four exemplifications of the fact that many human beings would rather face death than deliberately inflict pain have come to light in New York within the last month. Another case today, a Mrs. Fogg, who has been living in Brooklyn, was suffering from cancer, and feared that an operation must be performed upon her. She had undergone one ordeal of this kind, and knew that it was a painful and dangerous one. She feared a repetition of it to a degree that was downright monomania. She swallowed carbolic acid and died in agony, but at least escaped the surgeon's knife. She is the third person who has committed suicide in this vicinity within 30 days simply to escape a dreaded surgical operation.

Persistent Fight for Al. Adams.

Al Adams may as well make up his mind to stay in Sing Sing until his year's sentence has expired. His counsel have been trying hard for a certificate of reasonable doubt, but Justice Bartlett of the appellate division of the supreme court today denied the motion. The decision seems to settle the matter permanently, for the court cites a precedent almost parallel to the present case. Adams' attorneys say they will appear before the court of appeals on September 5 to renew the motion, however.

The Eternal Feminine Enigma.

One of the interesting features of Hoboken this afternoon was a young woman of large wealth who left a happy home in Connecticut to travel with a small circus, selling tickets under a tent as if she really liked it. She was Miss Alice Bradley, who ran away with the owner of the circus lately, and who is having a lot of litigation on her hands instigated by the wife of the circus owner aforesaid. The young woman is not bad looking and there are indications of refinement in her face and manner. The extraordinary thing about it is that she should elect to do work that is considered none too easy even for a man. Then, life with a small circus is about as cheerless in every way as one can conceive. But as one of the "hey rube" boys remarked philosophically—out of the hearing of Miss Bradley: "You can never tell about women."

Shamrock Not Damaged.

It is said tonight the Shamrock III. was not damaged by the squall yesterday afternoon, in spite of an early report that she had been shaken up so much that she might not be able to race tomorrow. Sir Thomas says this is not true; that Shamrock III. is in as good shape as ever she was and that she will give the Reliance a good hard tussle tomorrow.

Mice Kindle $40,000 Blaze.

A warning is conveyed in the fire in an old mansion in Washington avenue, Brooklyn, which might be heeded by many persons who think they are well protected against such a visitation. In this particular fire were destroyed paintings and tapestries valued at $40,000, and it is believed that the fire was caused by rats nibbling at matches. Such disasters are not uncommonly traced to mice and rats, but the average housekeeper seldom takes the trouble to keep matches carefully in fireproof receptacles. This costly fire in Brooklyn may call renewed attention to this species of danger, and not only in New York either.

An Old Game Revived.

One of the illegal industries along the harbor front which seems to have been flourishing with rather more than common enthusiasm of late is that of taking possession of boys for marine service by the method known as "shanghai." Only a few days ago a boy who belonged to a German liner said he was "shanghaied" on board a cattle ship, and made to do duty as a stoker until he jumped overboard in the harbor and was rescued by the captain of a tugboat. Police headquarters were informed today that an American boy had been "shanghaied" on a French sailing ship, which had got away to sea with him, although pursued for miles by a revenue cutter. The police are keeping a sharp lookout now for this kind of crime.

Lou Dillon's Feat.

The long-expected two-minute horse has got here. The performance of Lou Dillon at Readville marks a historic point in the development of the American trotter, as did that of Goldsmith Maid at Mystic 30 years ago. Even at that early date the two-minute horse was conceived to be possible, although it has taken all these years of breeding and training to cut off the 14 seconds separating Goldsmith Maid from the ideal.

The increase of speed in the American trotter seems slow, if we look at the advance year by year. The average development has been, as nearly as may be, one second off the mile in two years. Starting in the first half of the last century with the mile in 2:26½ of Lady Suffolk, at Hoboken, in 1845, the progress has been reasonably steady. Flora Temple brought the record down to 2:24½ in 1856, and to 2:19¾ in 1859 before her retirement. Dexter took 2¾ seconds off Flora Temple's time, and Goldsmith Maid reduced this 3¼ seconds in 1874. At that point there was a pause, and the wonderful mare held the record for four years, after which the progress was somewhat slower, and it was not until 1884 that the horse bearing the outlandish name of Jay Eye See, imitating his owner's name, reached 2.10. Of those that followed in the great work Nancy Hanks did the most, reducing the record time 4¼ seconds, from Sunol's 2:08¼, in 1891, to 2:04.

That was in 1892. Those four seconds have stood between Nancy Hanks and the two-minute trotter for 11 years. Alix cut off only ¾ of a second at Galesburg in 1894, and that performance stood for six years unsurpassed. Then came The Abbot, at Terre Haute, lowering it another half second, and Cresceus two years ago bringing it down to 2:02¼ at Columbus. With one bound Lou Dillon now reaches the mark which for so long has been the ideal.—Boston Post.

+ \+ \+ \+

Lou Dillon is now the "queen" of the trotting turf. Whether she will be able to eclipse her superb feat or whether, like so many other equine sovereigns she will be outdone in the future remains to be ascertained. But the fact that the two-minute trotter is here at last affords reason for gratification. Unlike the saddle racers, whose efforts, while spectacular and often sensational, have little practical value, the harness horse has a worth of his own for everyday use. In the attempt to breed successful trotters, thousands of fine animals are produced yearly, which, although they may not fulfill the ambitions of their owners, yet make speedy road horses and afford healthful recreation to multitudes of people. This is why the improvement of trotting stock deserves to be encouraged. Even in an age which has taken up the automobile with such enthusiasm there is plenty of room and abundant demand for the right sort of horse.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

+ \+ \+ \+

This year is destined to remain memorable in the history of the horse. Not only has the running record been broken, but the pacing record, thanks to the achievement of that nimble and willing animal, Dan Patch, has been broken. Now comes the news of a still more extraordinary performance in the announcement that at Readville, Mass., Lou Dillon trotted a mile in two minutes. No one who has paid even cursory attention to the development of the horse needs to be told what this announcement means to the horse breeders of the world. For nearly a century the speed record for trotting horses has been slowly lowered, each decade seeing a few seconds lopped off from the three-minute record, which was deemed fast at the beginning of the nineteenth century. Fifty years ago the fact that a speed of a mile in two minutes and a half was obtainable was accepted with surprise and elation. The extraordinary fame won by Maud S. in 1885 was due to the fact that she had reduced the trotting record below 2:10. For many years Maud S.'s record of a mile in 2:08¾ represented the limit of speed obtainable by trotters, and from that time on the the possibility of evolving a horse which would cut the record to two minutes has been in the minds of horsemen throughout the world.—Chicago News.

+ \+ \+ \+

Lou Dillon is today one of the great horses in sporting history. She has reduced the old trotting record of 2:02¼, by Cresceus, to 2 minutes flat, and reached without warning a goal that horsemen have dreamed of for many years, but few have expected to live to see attained. Between the boasted 2:40 of 50 years ago and the 2 minutes of Lou Dillon on August 24, 1903, is recorded the brilliant history of the evolution of the American trotting horse. It is a story of the triumph of the patience and skill of American horsemen and of the efficacy of the principle of natural selection.—Buffalo Commercial.

+ \+ \+ \+

To achieve the record a horse must average a speed of 30 seconds for each quarter, and still come to the last quarter strong enough to repeat or better the rate. All have failed in that last, grueling quarter until Lou Dillon came, perfectly rated by a master reinsman who had acquired the marvelous fine sense of speed to keep her at the proper rating. Her last quarter, finished in 29 seconds flat, marks this mare as the grandest turf queen that ever wore harness leather. She is a noble beast, for whom the multimillionaire horse kings may well bid high to secure the honor of possession.—Detroit Tribune.

+ \+ \+ \+

The performance of Lou Dillon at Readville marks an epoch in the history of harness racing. Even the most sanguine could not have hoped to see the wonderful mare beat her own and the world's record on the same day. The two-minute mark has been approached so gradually that no one could have been prepared to see more than two seconds slipped from the record at one flight. It was believed, though, that if any trotter now on the turf was capable of turning such a trick Lou Dillon was that one. More than any other performance of the present season her wonderful feat at Brighton Beach last week—a half mile in 59 seconds—revived the old question as to whether the dream of years was to come true and the two-minute trotter arrive at last. The hopes that she then inspired have been gloriously realized.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Two-Minute Trotter.

The long awaited, anxiously looked for two-minute trotter is here at last! Is it a wonder greybeards who have been hoping to see the record made before they dropped the lines forever grew apoplectic in cheering and almost hurried themselves into the grave at once when the gallant mare passed under the wire and for the first time in the history of trotting the figures "2 minutes 0 seconds" were hung out from the judges' stand? Is it to be wondered at that the younger set of trotting enthusiasts danced about like Indians and yelled like young Comanches, and stablemen and boys from here to nobody knows where else, turned handsprings and acted like lunatics, all because of Lou Dillon and her accomplishment of the seemingly impossible in speed?—New York Herald.

THE SHRINERS MADE MERRY AT KENNYWOOD PARK

The Hot Sanders Took the Women and Children Along To Enjoy the Fun Yesterday.

SHRINERS CUT UP MANY CAPERS

Third Annual Outing of Arab Patrol of Syria Temple at Kennywood.

MANY ENTERTAINING EVENTS

Kennywood park was turned over to the Shriners of this vicinity, yesterday, and all during the afternoon and evening, fun and frolic reigned supreme. Fully 2,000 nobles of the Mystic Shrine, their wives and other members of their families, and Masonic friends who have not yet taken the trip across the burning sands, were present and greatly enjoyed the interesting fun program arranged by the Arab Patrol, of Syria Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, whose third annual outing and picnic it was.

The crowds began to arrive at the park shortly after noon and up until after 8 o'clock last night each succeeding car was crowded. The opening event, and one which proved very funny, was a tub race between G. W. G. Snyder and J. J. Uetz, in which the former won.

Al Sunshine and a merry-making partner got a hand organ and a monkey and did a funny stunt.

The men were placed in the lake in ordinary wash tubs, with paddles, and given a start. They were to row around the island. First one upset and then the other. Snyder fell into the water and then pulled his opponent in. The race was watched by hundreds, and finally, toward the end of the course, when both the contestants were floundering in the water, Snyder made a heroic effort, jumped into his tub and landed the victory by crossing the line.

The baseball game between the bachelors and the married men was amusing and interesting. Herman W. Klein captained the married men and Charles T. Moore the single men. William S. Brown umpired the game in a most efficient manner. For instance, the first batter drove a liner over the center fielder's head. The batter ran around the bases and just as he touched the home plate Umpire Brown called foul ball, and the batter had to face the pitcher again. This and other "just" decisions caused much merriment. The score? Nobody knows, for no count of the runs was kept.

Capt. Klein made the hit of the ball game. He is about six feet tall, weighs 255 pounds and was dressed in a pair of bright red bloomers. At various stages of the game he entertained the crowd with a dance or two, displaying great nimbleness.

The most imposing feature of the day was the drill of the Arab patrol, starting at 8:30 o'clock. The members of the patrol, 32 in number, were dressed in their new uniforms, red turban, white gloves, white vests, yellow sashes, red bloomers, brown socks and red shoes. They formed pyramids, oblique crosses, crescents, circles and other figures emblematic of the order.

A. H. Sunshine, a member of the patrol, during the afternoon secured an Italian organ grinder and a monkey, disguised himself as an Italian, and went through the crowds grinding out the music himself.

The music of the day was furnished by the Shriners' band of 25 pieces, under the leadership of C. W. Gaston.

The officers of Syria temple are: Illustrious potentate, William S. Brown; chief rabban, Alfred S. Bishop; assistant chief rabban, Oscar C. Ganter; high priest and prophet, George C. OAKLAND CARNIVAL OPENS WITH A BIG CROWD

Damage by Storm Was Repaired, and Attractions Were in Full Blast.

The Oakland board of trade's carnival opened last night after a severe setback by the storm. The management had the grounds in good shape considering the amount of rain that fell and the damage done to the tents. About 10,000 persons were in attendance.

Nearly every show was going full blast. Dante's Inferno and the Volcano will be added to the attractions tonight. The free attractions are good. A man takes chances on his life by looping the loop; Kid McComb makes high dives, Granada and Fedora give exhibitions on a high wire and the DeComa family of aerialists show up well.

Many persons bought tickets on an automobile the company will deliver to the lucky one at the end of the carnival. The miniature railroad, which was assisted up the slight grades by two small boys pushing from behind, was well patronized. The Oakland board of trade has a big country store, and the smaller stands are numerous. A few of the attractions of the midway are: The snake show, Bostock's animal show, electric theater, old plantation, streets of Cairo, streets of India, Turkish theater, ghost show, Wonderland, Galatea and Blond in Black.

Over 6,000 persons saw the carnival at Swissvale last night, the opening proving a decided success. Each of the shows was well patronized, the act of Achilles Philion in balancing being especially admired.

CIRCUS GOT ABOUT $25,000.

Of This About Half Is Said to Have Been Spent Here.

Pittsburgh and Allegheny have been raised to the dignity of a three-day circus stand, and it is likely that after the six consecutive performances of the Barnum & Bailey shows, which began Monday night and ended last evening, other tent shows will profit by the precedent. For the six performances it is estimated that $25,000 was taken in and of this amount about $12,000 was left behind.

"The tendency is," said Whiting Allen, who has general supervision of the publicity of the great shows, "to exaggerate the attendance. As a matter of fact only a few people know the actual receipts. I would not attempt to make a guess. Pittsburgh has proven a good show town for three days, and I believe the city will stand it again."

Rain Caused Riot at Demmler.

Because of the rain and soft condition of the ground at Demmler station, where a large force of Italian laborers have been at work for some time excavating for a new tunnel for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the Italians refused to go to work yesterday and a fight with the construction foremen resulted. Pick handles, shovels and clubs were used in the melee, but no one was badly hurt. A riot call was sent to the McKeesport police station and the officers stopped the trouble. The men, however, refused to go to work, and officers were left on guard at the tunnel.

Explosion Mystery Cleared Up.

Alexander Werley, who was seriously burned at the Best Manufacturing Company's plant August 12, recovered sufficiently yesterday to explain that he was not the victim of a lamp explosion, as supposed. Werley said that a party of men went into the shop late at night and asked him for money. On being told that he had none, they went out and threw a large stone through the window, which struck an oil lamp, scattering the burning oil upon his body. Werley's left arm was amputated and he was burned over the entire body. He lives at No. 3709 Mifflin street.

INVITED TO BE AT THE CORNER STONE LAYING

Priests and People Asked to Aid in Decorating Interior of New Cathedral.

The Catholic pastors and people of Pittsburgh have been invited to participate in the laying of the corner stone of the new cathedral, Fifth avenue and Craig street, Sunday, September 6, in a letter given out yesterday by the Rt. Rev. J. H. Regis Canevin. The letter also states that it is the wish of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan that the interior of the church be finished and adorned by the pious gifts of priests and people so that the temple may soon be freed of debt.

As there are said to be 270,000 Catholics in the diocese, it is likely that the many responses will provide a sum that will easily fit up the church so that it will be second to few in the country. When the cathedral was sold, and its large debt paid, and the Epiphany parish buildings were erected, not enough money was left to erect a cathedral like the one to be put up.

Teachers at Allegheny County Institute Heard Interesting Talk by Dr. Winship.

SEVERAL OTHER DISCUSSIONS

Gathering Is a Great Success in Every Way—Prof. Armstrong of Morgantown Made an Address on the Teaching Instinct.

The bright-faced, intelligent school teachers listening to learned talks on many subjects, the groups gathering at each intermission discussing what they heard, the meeting of many in the same profession and the largest attendance ever known, are strong proofs of the popularity and success of the Allegheny county teachers' institute at Carnegie Music hall, Schenley park. Interest continues unabated in the daily sessions. Everything seems to have happily co-operated in making the affair a great success. The selection of instructors was most fortunate, the environment of the meeting place is most pleasing and even the weather man has been fairly considerate.

The attendance is very large, about 1,300 actual teachers, and will, it is said, keep up in this way to the end. The women teachers greatly outnumber the men, the ratio being about 10 to 1. This being the case, the wonder has been expressed that women are not represented in the corps of institute instructors. Supt. Hamilton thoroughly tested this matter several years ago by employing a number of women instructors. While it cannot be said that the experiment was a failure, the field to draw from is limited, and Dr. Hamilton, as the responsible head of the institute, feels that he cannot afford to make any mistake, and must, therefore, engage men who he knows will not be a disappointment. He makes it a rule to get only the best, and not only has to pay the highest market price for brains, but sometimes has to make his engagements a year ahead, in order to get what he wants.

Many Visitors Were Present.

The interest in this year's meeting has spread away beyond the lines of the county teachers. Among the visitors were noted Supt. Samuel Andrews of the city schools; Supts. Hall of Washington county and Painter of Butler; Principals J. M. Logan, E. W. Dalby, J. P. Cameron, J. H. Chatham, James E. Morrow, J. P. Stephens, Edward Rynearson and others, of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny schools; J. D. Anderson, ex-superintendent of the Wilkinsburg schools, and Drs. T. D. Davis and R. C. Clarke of the Twentieth ward school board.

At the opening session yesterday much interest was felt in the first number on the program, "America's Great Writers," by Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education of Boston, himself the author of a number of successful books. Dr. Winship spoke in part as follows:

American school children should know American authors with as distinct a personality as they know equally important states and cities. They should feel a definite acquaintance with the leaders. There are four classes of American authors, the great writers, the might-have-beens, the may-bes and the present delights. The great popular writers are Irving, Cooper, Bryant, Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Whittier, Holmes and Lowell; the might-have-beens are N. P. Willis, Edwin P. Whipple, J. G. Holland and others of their class. The may-bes are Saxe, Poe, Whitman, Lanier, Eugene Field and others of their class, while the "present delights" include James Whitcomb Riley, Nixon Waterman, Richard Burton, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and others of that class.

In the afternoon I will speak of Longfellow by way of illustrating a way to impart a striking personality to an author, so I content myself this morning with a classification. The nine great popular writers are in a class by themselves. They lived and worked in the same period; knew, respected and loved each other; were all clean men in public and private life. Of all Irving was perhaps the most interesting character, Holmes the most fascinating and Bryant the most human and the most man of affairs. Emerson will probably live the longest in the devotion of men; Longfellow was the universally approachable, and Whittier the most conscientious and consecrated to a mission among men; Hawthorne was the least heroic and Lowell the most nearly a master in poetry.

Mr. Winship recited from Sidney Lanier, Eugene Field and Walt Whitman of the class that may live with those at present recognized as great, and from Burton, Waterman, Sam Walter Foss, Holman Day, Carruthers and Ella Wheeler Wilcox, as those who are present delights.

Chicago Speaker Made Address.

Prof. W. W. Black of the Chicago Normal school, followed. Many supposed that he is from either the Cook County Normal school or Rockefeller's Chicago university, but is connected with the public normal school of Chicago, the institution in which the teachers of the great lake city are prepared for their work. He talked of the school as a process and will continue the discussion at subsequent sessions.

At the afternoon session Prof. Robert A. Armstrong of the chair of English in the West Virginia state university at Morgantown, made his first appearance before the local teachers and created a distinctly favorable impression upon a body that has heard the ablest masters of pedagogics in the country. His theme was "The Teaching Instinct," which he said might also be termed the law of service.

Prof. Armstrong showed how this law is illustrated in certain of James Russell Lowell's poems, and recited one in a most feeling and dramatic manner. He also showed that no good thing can be attained only by paying a good price in well-directed effort and self-sacrificing service. He illustrated indirectly Richard Realf's famous "Indirection," especially the thought that back of the gift stands the giving.

The professor denied being a preacher or a politician, as stated in the newspapers which had named his versatile acquirements. He declared that his being a preacher would be rough on the other gospel sharps, while he was not now a politician because he was so badly licked when he ran for a state office that he had retired absolutely from the field.

When Prof. Armstrong had finished Dr. Winship resumed his talk on "America's Great Writers," in which he said:

Dr. Winship's Talk on Longfellow.

It is high art for a teacher to give a distinct and attractive personality to an author. In the hope that you may be helped thereto this talk on Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is given. He was named for his mother's youngest brother, a lieutenant in the American navy, who was on duty in the Mediterranean in 1806, at a time when our government had strained relations with one of the countries of Northern Africa, and the youth was killed while on a heroic mission. "The Building of the Ship" affords one of the best opportunities to emphasize the personality of Mr. Longfellow. The first draft of the poem had no reference to patriotism or the Union, but it closed thus:"

"Oh, when and where
Will be the end of a thing so fair?
Wrecked on some treacherous rock,
Rotting at some noisome dock—
Such will be the end at length
Of all this loveliness and strength."

In 1849 on the author's birthday Fanny Kemble recited it in his presence in a Boston theater, and in the Civil war Noah Brooks recited it to President Lincoln, and each recital was thrilling in effect.

In closing Dr. Winship gave two delightful incidents from his own acquaintance with Mr. Longfellow, one referring to a college president from Texas and the other to a lady, the whole making a graphic picture from which to create a personality for the great poet.

The "County Treble Chorus" sang several selections at this point and received loud applause. This is a new feature at the institute, but is immensely popular. The chorus is composed of teachers in the county who are drilled by Prof. A. L. Fillmore of Allegheny. The members of the chorus are:

ANTI-TOXINES TO BANISH DISEASE

Dr. Bainbridge Discusses This Method of Treatment in Chautauqua Lecture.

SEASON IS ALMOST AT AN END

Dr. Willets Delivered an Inspiring Lecture on Sunshine—Advocates Founding of Homes—How Man Regards a Boarding House as Compared With Home.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The last great crowd of this season landed here today. This was the last excursion day from nearby towns and hundreds took advantage of the low rates to visit Chautauqua before the season closed. In the arrangement of the program the visitors were considered and only one scientific lecture was given.

Dr. A. A. Willetts made an address on "Sunshine." While the lecture was designed to entertain there was much good common sense to be learned from it. Among other things, Dr. Willets said:

"People do not live the happy lives they should and that is because they neglect their moral education. Morose, sullen, selfish, complaining people do more general harm than the assassins whom we can imprison or hang. The secret of a happy life is gratitude and contentment. There are no other people on the planet who want so much as we do and especially the dollars. When I was a young man John Jacob Astor and Stephen Girard were the only millionaires in the city of Philadelphia, and now they are too many to count. They are as plenty as jack rabbits in Australia and still we are not happy and never will be satisfied until we are a nation of millionaires."

Dr. Willetts thinks our homes are a great factor in happiness and loyalty. He urges the establishment of homes for, he says, "a man will fight for his home, but who will fight for a boarding house?"

Dr. William Bainbridge gave his third lecture in his course on the "Art of Healing," and touched particularly today on the subject of anti-toxines. Diphtheria, lockjaw, hydrophobia and other much-dreaded maladies, will soon lose all their terrors by the means of anti-toxines for each case. The reason the results are not general is the popular prejudice against the putting of one poison into the system in order to drive out another. The doctor prophesies a time when there will be no whooping cough, scarlet fever or other diseases known as children's diseases, and it will be brought about by the judicious uses of anti-toxines. He also warned his hearers to submit to such treatment only by the advice and under the supervision of an intelligent physician and to guard against patent medicines supposed to gain the same results.

ARBITRATORS IN EUROPE ARE VERY HARD TO FIND

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In order to have as little delay as possible in the meeting of the Venezuelan tribunal it is understood that the interested powers have urged the czar to select immediately successors as arbitrators for Prof. Matzen of Copenhagen university and Dr. Lardy, the Swiss minister at Paris, who declined to act, because their respective countries are interested parties.

As all the important states of Europe, save Russia, have claims against Venezuela the choice of delegates is limited to small states and to the eastern countries. It is believed in official circles here, however, that the czar will succeed in finding jurists acceptable to the interested powers. The foreign office announced today that Sir Robert Finlay, the attorney general, has been retained as the government's counsel in the arbitration of the Venezuelan claims at The Hague.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 26.—It is anticipated here that the refusal of Dr. Lardy and Prof. Matzen to serve as arbitrators of the claims of the allied powers, for preferential treatment in the settlement with Venezuela, will necessitate a postponement of the meeting of the arbitration court, which was fixed for September 1.

ROME, Aug. 26.—The Italian government has appointed Senator Augusto Pierantoni, professor of international law, to be counsel for Italy in the question of the preferential rights claimed by Germany, Great Britain and Italy in the settlement with Venezuela.

POLISH BISHOP WANTED IN THE UNITED STATES

ROME, Aug. 26.—The Rev. Wenceslaus Kruszka, rector of St. Wenceslaus church, Ripon, Wis., and deputy of the Catholic Polish congress of the United States, and Rowland B. Mahany, general counsel for that body, have been in Rome for some time past, trying to obtain the appointment of a Polish bishop in the United States, not for any special diocese, but having jurisdiction over all American Polish Catholics. Their proposal has been received coldly both by the vatican and the congregation of the propaganda, and is not likely to be accepted, being opposed to the spirit of the ecclesiastic hierarchy as established in the United States and also against the rules of the council of Baltimore.

Superstitious Classes Demand Expulsion of Professor Who Predicted Outbreak of Volcano—Spectacle from Naples Was Magnificent.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NAPLES, Aug. 26.—The people of Naples and the environs witnessed a remarkable spectacle at noon today. One thousand feet below the central cone of Vesuvius, the volcano opened like a huge mouth, out of which belched a fiery stream of lava which ran down the side of the mountain and at first seemed to menace the observatory. This building, however, is protected in the direction of the stream by a mound of lava 200 feet high, which was thrown out during the eruptions of 1895 and 1900.

The eruption occurred without any warning whatever. There was no earthquake, detonation or rain of ashes, nothing but a clear stream of lava and red hot stones, which were thrown to a height of 700 feet, producing an extremely beautiful effect seen from Naples. The stream of lava, which is 15 feet broad, at 11 o'clock tonight had covered a distance of 2,700 feet. It deviated later from the direction of the observatory, which is no longer menaced. The only danger is for the new electric tramway up the volcano, which, however, has thus far not been touched. The eruption already seems to be decreasing and it is hoped that no damage will result from it.

The spectators far enough away not to be frightened, stood entranced at the spectacle, but those nearer to the volcano were seized by panic when the eruption began and rushed down from the sides of the mountain and from the adjacent country to the villages of Portici and Resina, which is built over the ruins of Herculaneum. The alarm in these villages was somewhat quieted by the mayor affixing notices declaring that there was no danger and exhorting the people to remain calm.

The chief of police of Naples has gone personally to make a tour of the villages around Vesuvius in order to reassure the peasants and superintend any measures of protection which may be deemed necessary. The superstitious lower classes are agitating for the expulsion of Professor Krull of Munich, who predicted the eruption, declaring that he has the "evil eye."

AUSTRIA ORDERS TROOPS TO REMAIN IN THE FIELD

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—A hundred thousand Austro-Hungarian troops, whose three years' service expires in September, have been notified that they must remain with the colors until the end of 1903, in consequence of the Hungarian diet not passing the bill providing for the annual quota of recruits from Hungary. The order is considered to be a severe blow to the farmers.

KAISER WILL ENTERTAIN TEN THOUSAND AT DINNER

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Emperor William has invited to dinner in the castle and on the grounds at Cassel, Friday, 10,000 civil officials and prominent inhabitants of the province of Hesse-Nassau. The emperor tomorrow will entertain at dinner all the officers of the Eleventh corps from the rank of major upward.

Ensign Huessner Gets New Trial.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The imperial military court has quashed the reduced sentence of two years and seven days' incarceration in a fortress, imposed on Naval Ensign Huessner for killing his old friend and townsman, Artilleryman Hartmann, because the latter did not salute him properly, and ordered his re-trial. The original sentence was four years' imprisonment and degradation.

WANDERING HUSBAND FOUND BY ASTROLOGER

Magistrate Tests Powers of Long-Haired Specimen Who Delivers the Goods.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—An astrologer proved himself the real article today by finding a missing husband. Mrs. Minnie Cohen has been searching for her liege lord for two weeks. This morning she applied for a warrant.

"He will be at the corner of Pitt and Grand streets at 10 o'clock," she said.

"How do you know that?"

"Why, judge, Mister Abe Hochman—that man out there on the front seat with the skull cap and long hair—told me. He is a wonderful man. He says he will give me $50 if he is wrong. Please, judge, send an officer there and catch him."

"Well, just to satisfy you, I will," said the magistrate.

Patrolman O'Grady went with the woman to the corner named, and at 10 o'clock sharp the missing man was found there. He was arrested and haled to court, where he was held in $100 bonds to pay his wife $2 a week.

Several other women who were after warrants for missing husbands followed Hochman out of court and besought his help. He claims to be an astrologer. "I shall have a dream today," he said with a mystical smile, "and then I will tell you all."

Removal.

E. M. BIGELOW LEARNED MUCH ABOUT FILTRATION

Visited Philadelphia and Washington—Getting His Estimates Ready.

Director E. M. Bigelow returned to the city yesterday morning from Washington, D. C., after inspecting the filtration plants at Philadelphia and examining the plans and location for the proposed plant at the national capital.

"The trip was one of the most profitable I have ever taken," said Director Bigelow yesterday, "as far as gaining information was concerned. I have learned a great deal about filtration plants since I left Pittsburgh, and am in favor of sand filtration."

As soon as the director has his estimates ready he will notify the special filtration committee and a meeting of the committee will be called to receive his estimates.

"What we did in Washington and Philadelphia," said the director, "was to get facts. The Washington plant will cost $3,000,000, will have a capacity of 75,000,000 gallons a day, and is designed to supply a population of 240,000. The cost of pumping stations, which will be about $200,000, is not included in the present estimate, and it will not be necessary to build settling basins, because some of the old reservoirs will be used for this purpose.

"The conditions in Pittsburgh are much the same as they are in Washington, although we will have here only 440,000 cubic yards of excavation, while they will have 380,000 cubic yards. But then we will have to build settling basins, because there are no reservoirs here which can be used. Besides, the pumping stations will be more expensive, without taking into account the expense of constructing a line across the Allegheny river and the laying of the main for the South Side."

FUNERAL TODAY OF PHILIPPINE VICTIM

Body of Edward O. Kloman Will Be Buried in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The funeral of Edward A. Kloman of the First battalion, United States marine corps, who was killed in action at Samar, Philippine Islands, on November 6, 1901, will take place today. The body arrived in this city late Tuesday night. Mr. Kloman, who was but 19 years of age, was the son of Anthony C. and Josephine Abel Kloman of this city.

When the body reached the city it was taken at once to the Flannery mortuary chapel, Grant street, where it will remain until the funeral this morning. The funeral services will be held this morning from the Church of the Epiphany, Washington and Franklin streets, at 10 o'clock. The honorary pallbearers will be Albert Loeffler, William F. Abel, Louis S. Fugua, Frederick Robertshaw, Thomas Coyle and Conrad Albenberger. The active pallbearers will be foreign service men, W. A. Wein, J. S. Gibb, G. W. Miller, H. O. Watkins, C. O. Clark and C. W. Hall. The bugler, Sidney Lane, and a firing squad will also be furnished by the same organization.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

September furniture sale

The fruits of long planning and keeping close "tab" on the furniture makers are ripe. No matter how prosperous a business—and the furniture business is prosperous—there will come dull times when manufacturers are willing to take little or no profit. Our orders dip into such trade lulls and the economy is ours—AND YOURS. Then, too, the market is not always firm. Conditions arise (such as dissolving partnerships, business extensions, liquidations, etc.) which greatly augment our usual purchasing power. Every careful manufacturer must also have stated periods for reckoning his gains and losses. To be successful, his factories must not become congested. Better far to sacrifice all his profit on over-productions, and "clean-up." This September Sale, commencing today, is the outcome of our taking advantage of all these trade conditions.

Don't think that we've been striving after mere cheapness—to give you "a whole lot for your money"—so much flashy plush or satin, or so much vulgar carving. We haven't—just the reverse. Every piece of the one-quarter million dollars' worth of furniture offered in this sale comes from manufacturers of long established and recognized standing. The best furniture stores throughout the country draw their supplies from the self-same manufacturers who have contributed to this sale. No need to argue about the lowness of the prices. This sale will appeal to everyone whose mind is open to conviction. When $10 does the work of $15, or $15 the work of $25—when three rooms can be furnished for the October cost of two, surely it's an opportune time to purchase liberally.

☞ Out-of-towners, please note: We prepay the freight within 100 miles of Pittsburgh on all furniture purchases of $25 or over.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Boston won from New York, 6 to 5, and lost, 3 to 2, today, in a double-header. Throws by Greminger and Tenney that hit base runners gave New York a long lead in the first game, but the locals retaliated by knocking Mathewson out of the box. McGraw was ordered off the field and Gilbert out of the game for disputing the umpire.

The second game was a pitchers' battle. Boston was ahead and two New Yorkers were out in the ninth, when Bowerman made a home run. Scores:

FORMAL AGREEMENT.

Demands of Minor Leagues Acceded by Big Organizations.

BUFFALO, Aug. 26.—One of the most important meetings in the history of baseball ended at 9 o'clock tonight after a two days' session. Representatives of the National, American and National Association of Minor Leagues participated. With the draft of an agreement drawn up by the minor league representatives before them the major league officials drew up a carefully worded agreement and submitted it at the final meeting tonight. This agreement will be acted upon at a meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues to be held within the next 10 days.

James A. Hart of Chicago, a representative of the National league, said: "We have acceded to practically every demand of the minor leagues. They will have absolute control of their internal affairs." The new agreement is signed by President Pulliam of the National league and President Ban Johnson of the American. They, with August Herrmann of Cincinnati as chairman, will form a national committee to adjust such matters as may come up for settlement between the major and minor leagues.

CHAMPIONS ARE HOME.

All in Fine Shape and Ready for St. Louis This Afternoon. Phillippe to Pitch.

After a three weeks' campaign on the road, in the west and in the east, the Pittsburgh Champions yesterday afternoon arrived home to begin a long series at Exposition park, the first game being with St. Louis this afternoon. Deacon Phillippe will pitch. The team was scheduled to play at Williamsport yesterday, but it was called off and the request of the Atlantic City team was turned down for an exhibition game.

"The exhibition games will be eliminated, in fact, it already has been, from the Pittsburghs' program," said Secretary Will Locke last night. "Manager Clarke is against the games, as it is too hard on the team. Newark wants a game next Tuesday, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made the team will play there, and it will be the last of the year. While away we won 10 out of 15 games," continued Locke, "which is a very good record. Wagner was the whole show at Brooklyn and Boston, and the fans there are still talking about his wonderful playing."

Outing of the Traction Men at Calhoun Park Was a Big Success

The Fat Men's Race Provoked Much Fun.

PRESIDENT JAMES D. CALLERY
Knows How to Play Ball From Past Experiences.

BOSSES AND MEN GOT FUN OUT OF AN OUTING

First of This Season's Recreation Days for Traction Employes Was Very Enjoyable.

Over 5,000 people attended the first day's outing of the Consolidated and Monongahela employes of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Calhoun park yesterday. There ws a crush in the evening. President James D. Callery, General Superintendent John Murphy and other officials of the company showed they were just as much interested in the play as they are in the work of the men. President Callery had to officiate as umpire of the prize baseball game, and as in past years his decisions gave entire satisfaction.

The ball teams represented the mechanical and transportation departments. As there are half a dozen or more former professional ball tossers in the ranks of the car and shop men, the game was a good one. Eight innings were played, the mechanical men winning by a score of 11 to 5. Today seven innings more will be played. The winning team will get $50 in gold.

The other events and the winners of each were: Fat men's race, 100 yards, P. Curtin; time, :20. Potato race, W. W. Watson, 25 yards, 1:40; wheelbarrow race, 100 yards, W. W. Watson, :15; sack race, 50 yards, W. L. Sloan, 8 seconds; three-legged race, 75 yards, Gibson and Watson, :12; 100-yard dash, W. W. Watson, :12. In the evening there was a prize waltz, the winner being John Larkin, foreman of the Homewood barn. Yesterday's program will be repeated today.

ERRING HUSBAND BROUGHT TO BOOK

After Being Rescued from a Watery Grave He Is Assaulted by His Wife.

ANOTHER WOMAN IN THE CASE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.

John Johnson, a visitor, had a narrow escape from drowning today and on top of that he was given a thrashing by his wife. Johnson had been swimming in the vicinity of the Steeplechase pier, and felt himself getting weak from exhaustion. He made a straight course for the pier and managed to get hold of one of the iron pilings.

When the man was landed he was bleeding profusely from several cuts and bruises about his arms and face, which had come in contact with the iron pilings while he was being battered about like a cork in the mighty billows.

A woman, whom it is said had been bathing with Johnson, came up in the crowd that gathered, and she wiped the blood from the man's arms with her handkerchief and started to walk away away with him. From out of the crowd stepped a young and athletic-looking woman. Taking hold of the man with a firm grip, she wheeled him about so that he faced her and then said:

"So, it's you, is it? Well, this is the second time today that I have caught you in company with another woman. Take that."

"That" was a well-directed blow that landed on the jaw of the recreant husband. The woman who had been with Johnson was soon out of sight. The Johnson woman and a companion started down the beach and Johnson followed.

NEXT WEEK'S PLAY BILLS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Alvin Opens for the Season Saturday Night—Offerings of Other Houses.

"King Dodo," one of the best comedy operas of the decade, made the musical and comedy hit of last season at the Alvin theater and during Holy week played to the largest business of any attraction in the country. The same attraction is to open the season at the Alvin, the engagement commencing Saturday 29 and running for seven nights and two matinees. The prince of comedians, Richard Golden, will play the name part this season and it is one of his best efforts. New scenery, new costumes and new faces will add to the general ensemble and will make the jolly and potentate remembered for many days to come.

Next week will be the last of the season for the summer stock opera company at Duquesne garden. The bill selected is Gunod's work, "Faust." This opera is one of the greatest works of this master. William Stephens, the tenor, will be heard in the title role, a character admirably suited for his voice and one which he has sung many times before. Mephistopheles has been assigned to Bowman Ralston, an English basso who has been especially engaged for the concluding week. Valentine will be sung by Jack Raffael, the well-known baritone. Mary Carrington will be heard in the role of Marguerite, a pet character of hers giving her unusual scope and opportunity for display of her magnificent voice. Josephine Bartlett will be cast in the role of Siebel.

Next week should be one of the Bijou's banner weeks of the season, for Bartley Campbell's masterpiece, "The White Slave," will be the attraction. This season it comes with much more massive scenic appliances and with greater electrical affects than ever. And the company, too, this season, is said to be hardly second to the original all-star casts that presented the wonderful play in the early days of its career.

"Down by the Sea" is the title of a production to be put on at the Empire next week. It comes to Pittsburgh very warmly indorsed and the management of the theater anticipates doing a splendid business. The Empire is this season retaining all of its former popularity and is adding to it nightly.

Whallen Bros.' "Kentucky Belles" comes to the Academy next week, opening with a Monday matinee. Of course there is no plot, no attempt at any story, just fun and wild, strange, fascinating and irresistable music. Not a dull moment is allowed to crop in during the two and one-half hours that "The Kentucky Belles" hold the stage.

The Sunday afternoon at the trolley parks will include concert bands, specialty people and an animal circus. Calhoun park will have the Homestead Library band. There will be a number of special features with the band, and Mrs. Carrie Nation will address the crowds afternoon and evening.

Oakwood park will have the Pennsylvania State band and The Epps, a clever team of colored fun-makers, will be among the special features, while Fred Nolan, the comedian, will keep the audiences in good humor.

Kennywood will have the Rocereto concert band for both concerts and with the band will be a number of first-class specialty people.

Southern park's crowds will be entertained by the Braddock Library band and Dubec's animal actors, a troup of dogs, cats, apes and rats, will be there. Eddie Devoe, the entertainer, is on the bill also.

PRISONER WAS HELD ON CAPIAS

Jail Warden Refused to Deliver Von Spiegel for a Hearing Before Alderman.

TEACHER BRINGS TWO SUITS

Pearl M. Ohl, an Allegheny school teacher, yesterday entered suit in common pleas court No. 1, against James V. von Spiegel for $5,000 damages. Von Spiegel is in jail on a charge of false pretense and a capias in the suit entered yesterday was left with the warden.

The woman alleges breach of promise to marry. In her statement she alleges that by reason of a prior acquaintance Von Spiegel called upon her several times, representing himself to be of great wealth and president of the Dawson City Mining Company of Mexico. She states that on August 7 last he proposed marriage; that he was accepted two days later, and that their wedding day was fixed for August 18. In the meantime Miss Ohl says the defendant borrowed $6 from her and secured from her a signet ring, saying he wanted to get the size of her finger for an engagement ring. The marriage license was taken out August 12, but a few days before the time fixed for the wedding, Von Spiegel left the city and did not return until August 20.

Miss Ohl declares that investigation developed the fact that the defendant was not a man of wealth and that she became convinced that he never intended to marry her. She also alleges that by reason of her engagement she resigned her position as school teacher.

Von Spiegel was to have been given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Alderman Groetzinger on the false pretense charge. When a constable went to jail for the prisoner the warden refused to release him by reason of the existence of the capias. An effort was made to have Judge F. H. Collier release Von Spiegel for a hearing, but the application was refused, consequently the hearing was postponed.

A tall, well-dressed man called on Superintendent of Police McTighe last night and asked that he might see J. B. von Speigel to identify him. The man explained that a man of that name had worked for him in Chicago some months ago. The Chicagoan was sent to the county jail, but it was too late to see the prisoner. He will probably call this morning. It was impossible to ascertain the name of the man, but he is said to be J. W. Cooke. He told the following story to McTighe concerning von Speigel:

"A man named J. B. von Speigel, who was about 22 years old and who said he lived at Utica, N. Y., entered my employ several months ago. I found him a steady and reliable man. One day he showed me a telegram which stated if he ever expected to see his father alive he must come to Utica at once. He asked me for some money and I gave it to him. He went away.

"A few days later he wrote stating that his father had died on the previous Saturday and his mother on the following Monday. He asked for money to bury them. I sent him the money and in two weeks he came back to Chicago and went back to work for me.

"Von Speigel told me his father had left a few debts, but that these could easily be paid as soon as his life insurance, which amounted to $20,000, could be settled. He asked me for some money to pay the debts, promising to pay me back when he secured the life insurance. The next day he disappeared and with him went four pay envelopes. That was about three months ago and I have been looking for him ever since.

"The description of this man arrested in Pittsburgh fits the man who worked for me exactly. I am very anxious to see him, as I think he is the one who robbed me."

The stranger also told how, after his man had disappeared, he sent a letter to Utica which was answered by the young man's father, whose death was a myth. In the communication it was stated that the father was a physician, but was in poor circumstances and consequently was unable to reimburse the firm by reason of his son's actions. In response the Chicago firm sent to the young man's father the letter written by the son, in which the deaths of both parents were set forth, and the physician again repeated his inability to satisfy his son's debts. The father also wrote something of his son's domestic affairs and that the young man has a wife and child in Chicago.

A decree in divorce was granted in the case of Annie B. Watson against Marcus T. Watson on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

A divorce was also granted in the case of Ella M. Patton against Charles F. Patton. The libellant is only 17 years old. Infidelity was charged.

Other decrees in divorce were: John Rahn against Phillipine Rahn, desertion; William John Michel against Margaret Michel, desertion; Agnes J. Aston against Samuel K. Aston, desertion; Sarah J. McClarey against James F. McClarey, cruel and barbarous treatment.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Executions were issued as follows: Joseph L. Mitchell against the Dr. Blackshaw medical Company, $2,899; William W. Woods against F. B. McMillan, $82.42.

Judge M. W. Acheson made an order in the case of J. T. Munhall, trustee, against the Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Ebensburg & Western railroad, continuing the sale of the franchises of the road from August 28 to September 22.

Bankruptcy proceedings were begun in the United States district court by Charles H. Haentze of Pittsburgh. The creditors are W. J. Gilmore & Co. and J. K. McKee Co. of Pittsburgh, and W. K. Wampole & Co. of Philadelphia, whose claims aggregate $4,603.12.

The first and partial account of the executors of the estate of Thomas B. Moreland was filed. They charge themselves with personal property worth $151,049.97, to which is added cash received and interest, making a total of $161,507.71. Among the items for which the executors claim credit are the following: Value of business, etc., bequeathed to Thomas B. Moreland, Jr., $43,679.69; specific legacies, $1,300; bank stock distributed, $7,500; a total credit of $121,484.63 is claimed. This does not include personal property not disposed of.

LONG LOST YOUTH FOUND.

After wandering about for four years Harry Patch, son of Postmaster H. G. Patch of Wilmerding, has returned home, to the great joy of his parents, who did not know where he was until a few days ago. When 15 years of age Harry Patch, on July 5, 1899, suddenly disappeared, after he and a few other boys had taken a ride with a wagon and horse belonging to a Wilmerding grocer without the latter's consent.

All efforts to locate the boy were fruitless until Postmaster Patch met a friend Saturday who told him that a youth who looked like the missing son was seen by him in Cleveland. Mr. Patch immediately went to the Forest City and found young Patch working at a cigar counter in a drug store. The young man was brought back and likely will stay at home in deference to the wishes of his parents, although he would like to return to the lake town. Harry said he had gone to Wheeling from Wilmerding, thence to Cincinnati and later to Cleveland.

EAST END HOUSE BRINGS $27,500

Physician Buys Broad Street Residence—Fine Dwelling to Be Built in Murray Avenue.

LARGE DEALS MOVING SLOWLY

William O. Wright has sold to Mrs. Yetta Browarsky a fine residence property in the East End district for $27,500. It is located at the southeast corner of Graham street and Friendship avenue, in the Twentieth ward, the lot measuring 58x140 feet, on which stands a large brick dwelling.

The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company sold for M. E. Riffle to Dr. W. E. McGrew the property at the corner of Broad and Vista streets, in the Twenty-first ward, consisting of a 10-room brick house, lot 31 by about 100 feet, for $6,500 cash. Dr. McGrew will occupy the property as a home next spring. The same company sold for F. C. Kohne and L. Z. Birmingham to Mrs. W. A. Tarn a lot 40x127 feet, in Murray avenue, between Irwin and Northumberland avenues, for $3,000 cash. Mrs. Tarn will build a fine brick residence on the property, which she will occupy early next year.

There was the usual dearth of large city deals yesterday, the quietness which has prevailed all month being made still more evident by the warm weather, which operates against activity even among the few investors who are in the city. There was the customary number of tales of deals just about to be closed, but realization of the deals is very slow. If prophetic statements to the effect that high temperature will prevail until well into September prove correct, it is likely activity will be deferred to a later period than expected. Meanwhile there is some increase in the number of inquiries, showing that people are still thinking about realty investments.

George T. McDonald has closed the sale of 12 lots in the Oak Ridge plan, near Turtle Creek, each lot measuring 25x115 feet, fronting in Glenecke avenue, the consideration for the block being $3,000. The purchaser, who is a local contractor, will erect 12 houses on the lots, costing $2,500 each.

W. L. Alexander of the Bellevue Realty Savings and Trust Company, sold for M. O. Coggins to A. M. Taylor, Jr., a 9-room frame house, lot 50x150 feet, in Dawson avenue, Bellevue, for $4,000.

The Aronson Realty Company sold for Charles Sachs and H. M. Stein to Harris Freedman an 8-room brick dwelling, lot 18½x60 feet, No. 17 Mercer street, for $4,600. The same company sold for Benjamin Blatt to Louis Gursky a brick store and dwelling, lot 20x91 feet, corner Robert and Linton streets, for $3,000.

H. Hassley has broken ground for the erection of a $14,000 store and apartment building, to be of brick, three stories high, in Dickson street, Homestead. D. S. Platt is the architect, and the contract for the building has been let to the Homestead Lumber Company. It will contain two store rooms and four suites of apartments, and will be completed by February 1.

W. F. Muehlstein sold to John B. Wilson of Beaver, Pa., an improved lot, 20x100 feet, on the south side of Liberty avenue, Sixteenth ward, for $6,000.

Tobias Trimbert sold to S. Marshall a lot 24x60 feet on the south side of Edwards alley, Twenty-fourth ward, for $1,950.

J. W. Sherrer of the Consolidated Real Estate Company sold for Daniel Walker to Rachel Jones an improved lot, 25x120 feet, on the west side of Emerson street, Twentieth ward, for $6,400.

Attorney A. C. Stein has purchased the McCutcheon property in Center avenue, adjoining the R. B. Petty homestead, corner of Reed street, Thirteenth ward, lot 100x215 feet, improved with a large brick house, which he will occupy as a home, for $16,000. The sale was made by Cooper & Kiebansky for N. Cook.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: Anton Obener, frame dwelling, Arlington avenue, Twenty-seventh ward, $1,400; Dauler, Close & Johns, alterations and extension, Cherry and Strawberry alleys, Third ward, $20,000; W. J. Payne, three brick dwellings, Gearing avenue, Thirty-eighth ward, $5,700; G. E. Evans, brick apartment house, Bedford avenue, Seventh ward, $20,000; Christina Frank, frame apartment house, Holmes street, Eighteenth ward, $4,600.

SMITH FAMILY REUNION IS ATTENDED BY 5,000

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Fully 5,000 Smiths, men, women and children, congregated at Peapack today and discussed basket lunches, while the band played, men made speeches and the Smiths enrolled themselves in the big book. This was the 27th annual reunion of the Smith family, and it was held on the same spot that the first reunion was held 27 years ago, on the farm of the late Peter Z. Smith.

Suit Against Minister Withdrawn.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—The assault and battery charge against the Rev. S. A. Smith of the Croton Avenue Methodist church by Dr. R. G. Book was withdrawn today and the people of the congregation are breathing easier. The costs were paid but neither the minister nor physician will make any statement except that the matter is a closed incident.

Cadiz Minister Elected Moderator.

BIRMINGHAM, MICH., Aug. 26.—The United Presbyterian synod of Ohio opened a two days' session here today. The Rev. W. M. Butler of Cadiz, O., was elected moderator and the Rev. F. E. Deane of Salineville, O., clerk.

PERSONALS

Judge Harry White of Indiana passed through the city last night on his way home from holding court at Kittanning. He tried a case which brings out a peculiar and new feature regarding the rights of a borough and a water company. The borough holds the water company should furnish water gratis, while the company thought otherwise. The judge refused to discuss the case from the fact that he has not yet rendered a decision. He is much interested in the bill which was presented to the state legislature last session, prepared by him, regarding dividing the real estate of husbands and wives when either dies interstate. Judge White has been asked to appear before the committee and explain the contents of the bill.

Mrs. Ellen M. Watson of Murdock street left last night for Mountain Lake Park, Md., to attend the thirteenth reunion of the "Good Samaritans" of the United States Christian commission. Mrs. Mary Little Moore of Forbes street, who also performed good services during the war for Union soldiers who passed through this city, will accompany Mrs. Watson. Mrs. Annie McComas Dickey of South Highland avenue will be a guest at the convention.

Otto Bienegraeber of No. 5601 Butler street, accompanied by his daughter, Hattie, and George Senger of Keystone and Thirty-third streets, have sailed from New York on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, for Germany. The visit to his old home will be Mr. Bienegraeber's first since he came to this country 35 years ago.

Lake Erie Extension and Mongahela Railroad Officially Ordered Open

The official orders for the opening of the Brownsville extension of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad were announced yesterday. Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Lake Erie, and president of the Monongahela railroad, gives the general notice fixing the date as Monday, August 31. General Superintendent J. B. Yohe sends out a notice of the extension of the Monongahela division of the Lake Erie from Marchand to Brownsville and Bridgeport simultaneously with the opening of the Monongahela railroad extending from Brownsville along the east shore of the Monongahela river through the territory comprising the lower Connellsville coke region.

The new territory is to have the advantage of through freight shipment. Marchand will be the point of classification. Track scales and yards have been established there. All out-bound freight shipment, Marchand will Monongahela railroad, which is a joint Lake Erie-Pennsylvania line, will be there weighed, billed, classified and forwarded in through trains directly to destination. In this way the continual delays due to rebilling and yard handling will be avoided and quick action obtained on the products of the "new Klondike" as this coke region is termed.

Both the fast and local freight trains of the Lake Erie, which have been running to Marchand since the extension from Fayette City was opened a short while ago, will now be extended through to Brownsville and Bridgeport.

Similar advantages will be given the newly-opened territory in its passenger service. There will be five trains each way daily, four new stations, East California, Brownsville Junction, Brownsville and Bridgeport being opened. Through close connections with the Monongahela railroad, the towns of Lambert, Masontown, New Salem, South Uniontown and Redstone Junction and a number of others in the new coal and coke region will be given superior passenger service.

The first important development of this new line has just appeared through a contract with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie for accommodations for 500 people to attend the Labor day demonstration in Pittsburgh on September 7.

Railroad Notes.

The track inspection party of the Pennsylvania railroad, headed by J. T. Richards, engineer of maintenance of way, departed on its return east on train No. 8 of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday morning.

Among the railroad men from other cities here yesterday were J. M. Harris, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines at Cincinnati, and John Roberts, depot ticket agent of the Erie railroad at Cleveland.

INQUIRIES BY DAMROSCH.

Walter Damrosch, now summering at Augusta, Me., has sent an inquiry as to the availability of a local supporting chorus for proper rendering at the new Exposition of his "Danny Deever" and "On the Road to Mandelay." These two songs are among the most stirringly dramatic vocal compositions the last decade has heard, the former being particularly strong and effective, notably when interpreted by the intense temperament of a David Bispham. An entire program is to be given up at the Exposition to Mr. Damrosch's own works, which include, beside the songs just named, a violin concert, numerous lighter compositions and selections from his grand operas, "The Scarlet Letter" and "Cyrano de Bergerac."

A difficult task just now is the selection of the Pittsburgh vocalists for presentation of the famous "Meistersinger" quintet during the fortnight of Damrosch concerts. A favorite combination, as suggested in various quarters, includes Messrs. Fownes, bass; Jiles and Beddoe, tenors; Christine Miller, contralto, and Henrietta Kell, soprano.

TO RELIEVE WORKMEN.

As a result of the action of the American Sheet Steel Company in throwing its union mills out of operation and running those not organized, the officers of the Amalgamated association have called a special convention, to be held in Pittsburgh next Monday. Each lodge in the country is entitled to one delegate, and it will be their duty to discuss the question of relieving their brethren who have been idle for so long.

Two plans will be considered. One is to declare all non-union mills open and the other is to remove the limit of production. There are 164 mills in the combine, and of this 98 are non-union and 66 mills are manned by members of the Amalgamated association.

Quarter Million for Coal Land.

WHEELING, W. VA., Aug. 26.—About $250,000 was paid today for 3,200 acres of coal land at Beach Bottom, 10 miles north of this city, in the Panhandle. James Braddock of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and John M. Stauffer of Scottdale, are promoters of a company which will mine the land.

Miners Crushed to Death.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 26.—An immense fall of top coal took place today in a colliery of the Delaware & Hudson Coal Company in Plymouth, instantly killing one miner and one laborer. The victims are J. W. Stevers, aged 52 years, and Peter Kronok, aged 32 years.

YOUNG MAN PREFERRED DEATH TO WORKING

Shot Himself Fatally When Mother Told Him He Must Seek Employment.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONONGAHELA, PA., Aug. 26.—Rather than go to work, William Moss, 19 years old, shot himself fatally in his room in a lodging house in West Monongahela this morning just before breakfast. He rose and dressed as usual, and was preceded down stairs by his roommate, Allan Harter. When Harter reached the foot of the stairs he heard a shot, and going back to the room found Moss lying on the floor with a bullet wound through his right breast.

Moss was removed to the Memorial hospital, and will die. Last night the young man's mother called to see him and told him that he had been idle long enough, and had reached the age when he should seek employment. Moss told his roommate before they went to sleep that he would die before he would go to work.

TRADING IN STOCKS WAS ALMOST STAGNANT

Wall Street's Total a Trifle More Than 200,000 Shares and Pittsburgh's Under 5,000 Shares. Grain Market Higher.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Trading in stocks in the eastern market yesterday almost came to a standstill. The total sales were a trifle over 200,000 shares, to which London is estimated to have contributed about 10,000 shares, but so thinly distributed as to have no effect upon the market. Before the opening, tips were out that Amalgamated Copper, Atchison, the Eries and Missouri Pacific were to be advanced, but the movement failed to materialize. Initial quotations were ⅛@¼ per cent higher, but during the morning session more than a score of usually active stocks had not been traded in, and the few specialties that received the attention of the professionals moved within narrow limits. Amalgamated Copper opened strong at 49, but that proved to be the highest price of the day, the stock subsequently reacting to 47¾ near the close. There was a story that an attack was to be made on Virginia-Carolina Chemical, but this also failed to materialize. The Erie stocks were strong, and the common closed within a shade of the top, the expectation being that the statement of earnings for July and for the fiscal year would be published today and would show an enormous increase in earnings.

The unresponsive character of the market was again demonstrated in the late dealings, when the Atchison report for July came out. It made a splendid showing. The gross earnings for the month increased $789,884, the operating expenses increased $492,953, and the net earnings increased $296,930. This showing is particularly gratifying in view of the light movement of wheat, and also as indicating that the company has entirely recovered from the effects of the floods in May and June. The only response in the market was a rally of ¾ per cent from 62⅜ to 62⅞, and it failed to stimulate any activity in the remainder of the list. Missouri Pacific and Wabash preferred were firm during the early part of the day, but later lost all their gains. Canadian Pacific was a strong feature, advancing to 127¼, subsequently reacting to 126⅝. Less than 1 per cent covered the fluctuations in such stocks as Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and the Readings. New York Central opened at 121½, declined a point, and recovered to 121⅝. St. Paul was heavy, declining from 142 to 140½ and closing at 141.

The range of prices for all the United States Steel issues was covered by ½ of 1 per cent. The common stock opened at 23, declined to 22½, rallied to 22⅞ and closed at 22⅝. The preferred ranged between 70⅞ and 70⅜, closing at the lowest. The new 5s sold at 78⅞ to 79⅛. Colorado Fuel & Iron, which on Tuesday closed at 47 bid, opened at 51, advanced to 53 and reacted to 51. A rumor was current that Western Union would be absorbed by the Postal Telegraph, but there was but one transaction in Western Union all day.

The reaction which occurred in the final dealings and which carried prices to the lowest of the day was ascribed solely to the dullness in the market, there being no news to stimulate trading on either side.

Call loan rates remained unchanged at 1¾@2 per cent. There was some discussion of current reports that mercantile borrowers were finding difficulty in supplying their wants under 7 per cent. With this class of customers beginning to feel the pinch in the money market it was argued that no inducements would be extended to the general public to buy stocks, and that a dull and narrow market was all that could be expected until crop-moving requirements could be closely estimated.

There is one possible source of relief which would have a more stimulating effect than anything else. That is the import of a few millions of gold in payment of grain exports. Seaboard shippers expressed the opinion that a large export business in wheat would follow a decline in the price of grain. Yesterday, however, the grain markets ruled firm and closed within a shade of the top. The strength was based upon light receipts at primary points, and cables reporting very unfavorable weather conditions abroad, serious damage to the German wheat crop, and a lowering of the estimates on the French yield. It was also reported that shipments from India to Europe had ceased, and that foreign consumers would be forced to turn to the United States for supplies. As bearing upon international exchanges the significant point is made that two of our chief articles of import, coffee and sugar, are now quoted at the lowest prices for many years, coffee being at the lowest of record, while our principal articles of export, like wheat, corn, cotton and provisions, are quoted above the five-year average. The prevalence of these conditions, even if the volume of shipments of these commodities remained at a normal figure, would have an unusually favorable influence upon our foreign trade balance. Sterling was slightly easier yesterday.

Prices were irregular on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, the net changes at the close of the day showing eight securities higher, ten lower and seven unchanged. Pittsburgh Coal common again led in point of activity, and during the afternoon advanced to 32¾, a new high mark on this movement. Near the close there was a reaction to 32¼, and that was the final bid, there being no offerings. The market is evidently well cleaned up, and any considerable buying orders coming in now would cause a sharp advance. The preferred stock was a dollar higher at 83½ and closed at 83⅝ bid, 84 asked. River Coal common was a shade higher at 10⅝, and the preferred was unchanged at 37½ bid, 38 asked. Crucible Steel common rallied a dollar from the low point of the day previous, selling at 9¾, but it reacted to 9½ at the close. The preferred closed unchanged at 70½ sales and bid. United States Steel stocks were unusually dull, the common closing ⅝ lower and the preferred ⅝ higher. National Fire Proofing continued heavy, the common selling at 20½ and the preferred declining to 29⅞, the latter the lowest ever quoted. Pittsburgh Brewing preferred closed ½ lower at 44¼. The natural gas stocks were dull, but firmer and fractionally higher. Westinghouse Airbrake declined $2 a share to 145 on the marketing of 125 shares, and closed at 145½ bid, 148 asked. Westinghouse Electric, after selling at 82½, declined to 82, and closed at 82 bid.

There was a little more doing in bank and trust stocks, but with the exception of Home Trust, which advanced a point to 127, the tone of the list was heavy. Commonwealth Trust sold at 210, a decline of 5 per cent from the last previous sale. Iron City Trust and Real Estate Trust each declined 2 per cent, and Federal National bank was 1 per cent lower at 147. Allegheny Trust was unchanged at 148 and German American Savings & Trust at 157. River Coal 6s sold at 113, a decline of ¼, and Brewing 6s were unchanged at 110.

FEATURES OF THE DAY.

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $7,007,237, a decrease of $390,000.

Stock exchange sales were 4,926 shares stock and $7,000 bonds.

Pittsburgh Coal advanced to 32¾, the highest on this movement.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred advanced $1 to 83½ and closed at 83⅝ bid.

Westinghouse Airbrake declined $2 to 145 and closed at 145½ bid.

Crucible Steel rallied $1 to 9¾ and closed at 9½.

National Fire Proofing preferred declined to 29⅞, the lowest ever quoted.

IN WALL STREET.

Total sales for the day were 203,700 shares.

Volume of dealings again approached absolute stagnation.

Very little business originated outside the exchange.

Attention is centered upon the money market rather than upon stocks.

Commercial paper of the highest grade finds a difficult market.

The bond market was exceedingly dull but steady. Total sales (par value) $1,260,000. United States 2s advanced ½ per cent on the last call.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

National Fire Proofing common yesterday sold at 20½, its previous low price, and the preferred declined to 29⅞, the lowest ever quoted. Holders of the common stock yesterday received checks for the thirty-first consecutive quarterly dividend. The decline in the preferred stock represents a shrinkage of $25 a share from the highest prices quoted just about two years ago, when the company was increasing its capitalization for the purpose of handling a large volume of business. At yesterday's price the market value of the $8,000,000 preferred stock is about $4,800,000, and the market value of the $4,500,000 common stock is about $1,845,000. Stockholders who have inquired of officials of the company as to the cause of the enormous shrinkage are met with the assurance that the weakness is not in the affairs of the company, but in general market conditions, and they point to a similar shrinkage that has taken place in the best of securities. The recent selling probably represents liquidation of margin stock. Apparently insiders are doing nothing to support the market. They are quoted as saying that earnings are good and the prospects fair, and they point to the dividend record of the company. On the other hand the street is inclined to view the decline in Fire Proofing as a sympathetic movement with the decline in United States Realty and Construction. The weakness of the latter has been ascribed to the prolonged strikes in the building trades. These strikes have put some capitalists out of the notion of building this season, and the declining tendency in structural material has a like effect, it being human nature to hold off in a declining market in the hope of doing better, just as it is human nature to anticipate future wants in an advancing market for fear that prices will be higher. These conditions have, no doubt, had some effect upon stocks like Fire Proofing, and taken in connection with the stringency in the local money market would account for much of the weakness.

Westinghouse Air Brake declined $2 a share to 145 on the marketing of 125 shares, but recovered to 145½ bid at the close. There have been rumors of a block of stock carried on margin hanging over the market, and on one or two occasions it looked as though an effort was being made to shake out this stock. The market is so narrow that the execution of small orders to buy or sell causes wide fluctuations.

Home Trust rallied a point to 127, and that price was bid for 100 shares at the close.

Masten & Co. continued to be the largest buyers of Pittsburg Coal common. This firm has probably taken half the stock that has changed hands during the past three or four weeks.

Philadelphia Company rallied a fraction to 39¾, and Manufacturers Light and Heat advanced to 34¾, but subsequently reacted to 33½.

It is semi-officially stated that for the fiscal year ending in November the River Coal's output will exceed by 1,000,000 tons the total for last year, which was the largest in the history of the company.

The governors of the New York stock exchange have acted favorably on the unanimous request of the members, and the exchange will be closed September 5, 6 and 7, the latter date being Labor day. The members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange will vote today to close on the same dates.

The suspension of E. C. Jurgensen, member of the New York stock exchange, was announced yesterday. It had no effect whatever upon the market. This is the member whose assignment was announced on Monday and immediately withdrawn, he having fixed up his affairs.

The stockholders of the United States Glass Company will hold a special meeting on October 27 to take action on the proposed reduction of the capital stock from $5,000,000 to $3,[illegible],000, thereby retiring the entire issue of $1,000,000 preferred and also $[illegible] of the common stock, and the creation of a bond issue of $770,000 to retire the outstanding preferred stock, with its accumulated dividends.

Price of bar silver continues to advance in London, being quoted at 26 3-16d. This is only 1c for two days.

The gross earnings of Norfolk & Western for the third week in August increased $37,000.

It is estimated that Erie's annual report will show 4 per cent earned on the common stock. The latter was one of the few strong features yesterday.

Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, were the successful bidders for the entire $3,000,000 Philadelphia certificates, at 102.24. Bonds are deliverable to them September 1.

The head of one of the four largest banking houses in New York city says: "I am looking for an active market for bonds during the next year, but I think that the stock market will be very dull. At present the domestic demand for bonds is very disappointing. Apparently the hands of the savings banks are tied, and certain Philadelphia institutions are even selling bonds. There is a general feeling that the good investment bonds are cheap, but the majority of investors have little genuine confidence in the situation in view of the possibility of a reaction in business."

It is reported in Chicago that the Rock Island has secured control of the Mexican Central railway. This would be in accord with the policy of the Moore party. A traffic agreement has existed between the Rock Island and the Mexican company for some time, and as the former has been in an expansive state since the Moores came into ownership—having in the meanwhile acquired the Eastern Illinois, the 'Frisco, the Seaboard—it is entirely credible that the Mexican Central should have been taken over.

That the present decline in the sales value of many of the securities traded in on the New York stock exchange is not due to any decreased earning power is proved in the case of the Republic Iron and Steel Company by its income account for the first half of the present year, which, compared with 1902, is as follows:

	1903.	Increase.
Profits after expenses	$2,037,612	$ 196,036
Impts and rentals	474,835	159,017
Net profits	$1,562,777	41,049
Preferred dividends	714,591	2,100
Surplus	$ 848,186	$ 38,949
Surplus January 1	3,400,000	1,274,849
Total surplus	$4,248,204	$1,313,817

The surplus as shown for the first half of the present fiscal year is equal to 4.7 per cent on the present outstanding capital stock.

Reports gathered from eight of the leading western roads with their connections east of St. Louis and Chicago show that in motive power, car capacity, yard facilities and general equipment to handle all business they are in much better condition than a year ago. These roads show the following increases since June 30, 1902: Motive power, 11.1 per cent; car capacity, 12.2 per cent; yard facilities, 10 per cent; general equipment, 4.8 per cent. In regard to both motive and car capacity the percentage of increase is greater than that given above because of locomotives and cars, which is far from representing the true gain by reason of the greater power and capacity of the new equipment. The persistent work at grade reductions and track straightening during the year has also an important bearing on the handling of a larger volume of traffic. One road reports: "We do not apprehend any shortage of cars, having prepared for any increase of business which might be reasonably expected." Another road reports that when work now under way is completed "it will practically double capacity for handling business in Chicago."

PRICES REGULATED BY PROFESSIONAL ELEMENT

Dullness Still Prevails in Security Market in Wall Street.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.

The Herald this (Thursday) morning, says: There was a continuance of the same dull stock market conditions yesterday which have been in evidence for a week past. There was no public interest displayed and the movements of prices were dominated wholly by the trend of professional sentiment. Business showed a further contraction, and such activity as there was exhibited was confined to a dozen stocks. There were only seven issues traded in yesterday in which more than 10,000 shares changed hands. The tendency was toward a lower level. At the close the market was fractionally under Thursday night's figures. Throughout the session, however, the market displayed great irregularity.

The firm close of the market on Tuesday, many thought, would mean higher prices at the opening here yesterday, and when London sent a higher range of prices, the impression was strengthened. The gains established, however, did not last long. When traders, who were responsible for the advance attempted to take profits, they found a narrow market unwilling to absorb stock, so that concessions were made all along the list. Unimportant declines, ranging from a fraction of a point to a full point, were established and then the market became very dull. There followed slight buying movements which, in turn, were followed by selling spells. The range in which prices moved was extremely limited, and some of the speculative favorites did not vary up or down more than one point in the entire day.

Little developed during the day having a bearing on exchange values, and there was a dearth of influencing factors. Cotton again displayed a firmer tone, but the movement in the prices of that commodity was extremely irregular. Heavier exports of grain were reported, notwithstanding the fractionally higher prices of grain. Corn advanced mainly in sympathy with wheat which became stronger on European news of bad weather and local advices from the harvesting fields in the spring wheat belt. The primary markets in the northwest told of cold and rainy weather delaying the harvesting and in some quarters injuring the grain in stock.

RAT BITE CAUSES DEATH OF LEGISLATIVE MEMBER

CAMBRIA, WIS., Aug. 26.—David G. Williams, aged 63, who was bitten by a rat two weeks ago, died today from blood poisoning which resulted from the bite. Mr. Williams was a member of the lower house of the legislature. He served in the civil war.

Death Rate of 18.35 per 1,000.

The Pittsburgh mortuary report for the week ended Saturday, August 22, shows the total number of deaths have been 125, or an annual death rate of 18.35 per 1,000 inhabitants. There were 13 deaths from smallpox, 16 died of diarrhoea, 6 of typhoid fever and 15 of violent causes. Of the decedents 111 were white and 14 colored; 81 were single, 28 married, 13 widows and 3 widowers; 29 were under one year of age, 24 from 1 to 10 and 11 over 70.

Movements in Trade.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—In the federal court today Frank C. Stevens was appointed receiver for the T. Nicholson & Sons Company, one of the largest contracting firms of this city.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Charles R. Flint today announced that he is organizing a new combination of the box board industries of the country. The new concern will take in the United Box Board Company and 14 other companies.

The Farmers Deposit Savings bank, corner Fifth avenue and Wood street, opens for business Saturday, August 29. Why not be one of its first depositors? Saturday until 9 p. m. 4 per cent interest paid.

INTERESTING STAGE IN THE OIL FIELDS

Development in the vicinity of the Thomas J. Showalter farm gusher, located northeast of the Pine Grove extension in Wetzel county, W. Va., is reaching the interesting stage. Since the big well was drilled in more than two months ago, the way it has been holding up has made holders of leases in that locality anxious to get a share of the production. Within a few days the first of the second crop of wells will be due in the Gordon, the formation in which the Showalter well got its production. The new well is owned by the Kanawha Oil Company and is located 800 feet almost due north of the Showalter well.

On the west side of the extension interest in the development in the vicinity of the South Penn's producer on the Lida Lemasters farm is increasing. Southwest of this well 600 feet the Southern Oil Company and Greenlee are due in the Howard Furbee heirs' farm. Much depends on the result of this territory and the development to the northeast near the Showalter farm. Should one or both fluke there will be another decline in new production, as there is no other territory in sight that looks capable of supplying any considerable quantity.

Folsom is out of the race and the older part of the Pine Grove extension is presenting nothing better than very ordinary producers. In the last-named district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the E. B. Postalwait farm seven feet into the Gordon and have found nothing but a little gas.

In the Cameron end of the Marshall county development the South Penn Oil Company's No. 3 on the Jacob Standiford farm is a natural producer, flowing at the rate of 110 barrels a day. No. 2 on the same farm has been given a light shot and produced 125 barrels the ensuing 24 hours.

In the Mannington development, Marion county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 4 on the F. A. Rymer farm through the Big Injun and found that formation barren. They will drill to the lower sands.

In the Fink district, Doddridge county, the same company has shot its No. 5 on the Maxwell heirs' farm and increased the production to 90 barrels a day.

North of Cairo, Ritchie county, the Hudson Oil Company's No. 22 on the Harkness tract has declined to 125 barrels a day.

In the Bens Run district in Pleasants county, B. Schlagel has completed a second test on the Harriet D. Riggs farm and has a show for a 50-barrel producer in the Maxon sand.

On the Ohio side in the new development near Highland station in Washington county, the Daly Oil Company has drilled its test on the D. and E. Scott farm through the Big Injun sand and has a show for a 10 or 15-barrel pumper.

In the same district the Associated Producers Company has completed a test on the Dodds farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the same sand.

On Wolf creek Charles S. Cameron's No. 24 on the N. E. Russell farm is producing 70 barrels a day.

In the Bristoria field in Greene county, Pa., the South Penn Oil Company's No. 3 on the L. C. Grimm farm is holding up at 220 barrels a day.

In the Mt. Morris district the Union Water & Gas Company has completed its test on the Daniel Garrison farm and has a fair gasser.

REPAIRED BOATS RETURNING.

Packet Woodward Has Exciting Time in Rain and Windstorm.

The Cruiser, which has been repaired at Browns station, will return to the harbor today. She was taken from the ways last night. The Ironsides returned yesterday to the harbor, after being repaired. She will furnish steam for the inspecting of the James Moren today by the local inspectors, after which she will proceed to the Davis Island dam and be hitched to a tow of 17 barges. Tows of barges are being hitched up slowly, and if a rise should come at any time the River Coal Company will be ready to get out several tows of barges.

The I. C. Woodward was late in getting into the harbor yesterday on account of the storm of Tuesday night, which forced her to tie up. She had just passed River side when the rain fell in torrents and added to this was a terrific windstorm. Heavy freight trips had also helped to put the boat behind schedule time. She left on time yesterday afternoon for Morgantown.

River Notes.

The steamers James Moren and Cyclone will be inspected today by the local steamboat inspectors.

The City of Louisville has entered suit against the Cincinnati & Louisville Packet Company for $2,000, alleged to be due the city for taxes.

The repairs to the steamer Klein were completed yesterday, and it was expected that with her assistance the Annie Roberts would be pumped out by evening.

The United States snagboat, Woodruff, has left Cairo and is coming up the Ohio, removing snags on the way. She will probably have to tie up at Louisville on account of low water.

The Morgantown Packet Company is having trouble with its freight handlers. During the stay of the Barnum & Bailey circus scarcely enough roustabouts have come to the wharfboat to load the steamers. It is expected that they will return today, now that the show has moved along.

Traction Company Stole March.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—While the citizens and members of the town council of Scottdale slept this morning the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Railway Company stole a march on them by landing on the Scottdale side of the new steel bridge connecting the trolley lines of Fayette and Westmoreland counties.

The council wanted the company to guarantee free passage over the bridge to vehicles and pedestrains, but the company refused to do it. There was no attempt made today to stop the running of cars.

Last Excursion to Atlantic City, September 3d, Via Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Tickets good 16 days. Fare, $10 round trip; $2 additional for tickets good in parlor or sleeping cars, in connection with regular Pullman tickets. ASSIGNMENT STANDS.

New York Broker, Though Solvent, Must Go Through With Assignment.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Edgar C. Jurgensen, the stock exchange member who made an assignment on Monday and later announced that his creditors had been satisfied, suspended today. While this is equivalent in the technical sense to notice of failure, it is in reality nothing more than the fulfillment of legal requirements.

Mr. Jurgensen is perfectly solvent. He made a mistake, however, in appointing an assignee for his affairs before he had given notice to the stock exchange of his desire to suspend. The assignment once filed with the county clerk's office has to stand until the assignee is discharged.

Mr. Jurgensen has been trading on the wrong side of the market and lost money. His father, a wealthy retired sugar refiner, came to his assistance and fixed up matters. He will probably be quickly reinstated on the stock exchange.

ACTIVE FORGE IRON MARKET

Prices for No. 2 Foundry Are Unchanged—Bessemer Pig Down to a Minimum.

IMPROVEMENT IN SHEET SALES

Increased Request for Merchant Pipe. Finished Material Generally Quiet. Coke Consumers Hurrying Shipments Forward—Car Shortage Not Serious.

The feature of the week in the iron and steel market is the improved condition of forge iron, an active demand ruling, with a number of good orders taken and others now in process of negotiation. A leading seller of forge iron took a contract yesterday for 1,000 tons, and several within a week for 500, while still another is being considered, and may be closed any moment, for another thousand tons. Prices are somewhat softer than they were a week ago, although so far as can be learned they have not reached the level rumored, $15.50, for actual sales. Contracts referred to as closed recently were all made at figures varying from $16 to $16.25, Pittsburgh delivery.

Foundry iron is quiet, sales which have been made being very small at quotations which are virtually unchanged. Bessemer pig is without feature and is not selling at all. Little lots of 25 to 100 tons are occasionally taken out, but no orders of sufficient size to have any effect upon the market have been placed. Very low figures are rumored, but actual transactions are wanting, and it is possible to make almost any statement in regard to selling prices, there being no sales to either prove or disprove the figures. As near as can be learned producers are quoting $17.85 to $18.50, valley furnace, but there is little inquiry.

There are few features in finished iron. Sheet mills are active, and producers say they are able to notice quite an improvement in business, which is steadily increasing. From various sections of the country steel is gaining all the time, while prices are steady at unchanged figures.

Pipe Orders Heavier.

Orders for merchant pipe are increasing, large producers reporting a considerable increase in the quantity of new business. A few weeks ago, while there were contracts ahead to keep the mills all busy, there was a falling off in the number of new orders. This is no longer the case, and orders are again getting ahead of production. In structural material there is nothing new to report. Business keeps going, and the demand is fairly good, although there is as yet no decided improvement. Consumers are taking only what they need for immediate requirements, and these are not heavy. There is a waiting policy being pursued by purchasers, the unsettled condition of the money market having disturbed arrangements which had been made, and there is a disposition shown by users of finished material of nearly all kinds to hold off until there is a certainty that prices will not go down any farther.

A marked improvement is shown in the demand for coke, and users are hurrying forward shipments which were contracted for to be delivered later. A number of buyers are specifying for extra cars, saying that their stocks are so low as to leave them without coke if requirements are not immediately covered. The car shortage is not so serious as it was feared it would be by this time, although there are not enough cars for shipment to some sections. There are plenty of open cars, but box cars are scarce. The grain movement from the west is not heavy as yet, and there are not so many returning empties which could be used for shipment west, and coke for western states cannot be shipped as promptly as it could be gotten out if cars were more plentiful.

Hardware Trade Good.

Business in hardware lines continues satisfactory, orders for general lines coming forward from the trade at large and through salesmen on the road. These orders are for good quantity and satisfactory character of goods, and, with the increase seems to indicate a nice fall trade. Reports fom all sides are that a large volume of business is in anticipation by manufacturers and railroads, the latter making preparations to move immense quantities of goods. Nails and wire move freely, manufacturers reporting the consumption as well up to production even at the present time. If this is the case now it is fair to presume it will be much greater when the season is farther advanced. Builders' hardware moves in good volume. This condition keeps a large quantity of Albion tools moving into the hands of trade and consumers.

Business in bicycle sundries continues good, considering the season of the year, immense amounts of repairing apparently being done. Sales of bicycles are lighter than they were some time since, but a few sales are still being made. Business in window glass and in other items of the paint and glass trade is good. The demand for window glass is somewhat improved. The situation is, of course, not so satisfactory as it might be, but conditions seem to indicate a better state of affairs than seemed to exist a week ago. Prices are stiffening up, and prospects favor higher prices for fall business. The movement of ammunition and guns is heavy, there being more shooting done in this section than for many years.

MORE ACTIVE DEMAND FOR REFINED SUGAR

Too Much Coffee Keeps Primal Markets Weak—Produce Trade Quiet.

Within the last two or three days there has been a decided increase in the amount of sugar sold to the retail trade by local jobbers, who are finding request gaining in strength daily. There has been a quiet summer in the sugar business, and now that the demand has commenced to pick up it may be rapid. Refiners have not advanced prices, although they have threatened to do so, owing to the higher market for raw sugars now prevailing. Coffee is quiet and primal markets are easy. There is too much coffee, and the hurry of the planters to put it on the market, which they are compelled to do from force of circumstances, as they are obliged to realize quickly, keeps the situation weak and gives the buyer the advantage. Flour is firm, and no concessions are allowed from quoted figures. Although demand is perhaps not so heavy as it was a month ago, purchasers buying for requirements only, yet the output of the mills has been reduced through inability to secure sufficient supplies of wheat, and the situation is very strong. The navy bean market is firmer, although quotations are unchanged, but crops are reported as not any too good and sellers are commencing to take a firmer stand. Canned goods are unchanged and dried fruits are featureless at former prices.

Fruits and produce were quiet yesterday and quotations were allowed to remain unchanged. Dealers remark on the slowness of the peach demand this season. While there have not been many peaches offering, there has been a comparatively quiet demand, and buyers fail to show the usual eagerness to take hold. In former years purchasers have generally been in waiting for stocks to arrive, but this season finds apathy to the front and a seeming indifference to conditions. Cantaloupes hold to a steady level of prices, Rockyfords leading at $7 a crate. Watermelons are unchanged.

Hay and grain were in fair demand yesterday and prices were allowed to stand as quoted on Tuesday. There is still a shortage of best grade hay, while there is plenty of inferior stock arriving. Oats are steady and corn continues firm. Mill feed is scarce and stronger.

There is a strong egg market and best stock now brings 21 cents, with candled eggs selling at 19 to 20 cents, very few offering at the former figure. They are scarce, and jobbers are only helped out by the slack demand, otherwise there would not be enough eggs to supply the trade. Butter and cheese are unchanged.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Mountain Lion Company of Republic, Wash., has made arrangements for increasing its shipments of ore to 300 tons a day. This will increase the total shipments of the Republic camp to about 2,500 tons a week.

William Lucas and Dr. Zenk of St. Louis and W. J. Evans of Terre Haute, Ind., have just invested between $100,000 and $140,000 in Thunder Mountain properties.

Finch & Campbell have declared dividends on the Standard silver-lead mine in the Coeur d'Alene district and the Kendall, in Montana. A dividend of $22,000 on the Standard was paid yesterday. On the same date a dividend of 4 cents per share on the Kendall, or $20,000, was paid. The total dividends declared on the Standard mine now reach $2,920,000.

The Washington Water Power Company of Spokane made a test of its new line of wire to the Coeur d'Alenes this week and found everything all right. The lines are built to within a short distance of Wardner, and will be completed through to Wallace in a few days. At the beginning the company will furnish the Coeur d'Alenes with 2,500 horse power daily, and this will be increased in accordance with the demand.

An important strike is reported in the Clarita Mining Company's property. In extending the 700-foot level 3 times of ore was encountered yielding 15 per cent of copper.

The main shaft on the Centennial-Eureka of Tintic is now reaching a depth of 1,800 feet below its collar, and at that point another level will be established. Meanwhile 200 tons of ore is coming daily from the property to the furnaces of the United States smelter, while the wealth below is increasing with every shot, with unusual interest manifested in the results that shall be achieved on the 1800 level, which is, in reality, 2,500 feet below the apex of the zone, which rises 700 feet above the collar of the shaft.

A letter from Roosevelt, Idaho, says: The camp was visited by a number of eastern experts and capitalists this week. Among them were F. B. Longfellow and Mr. Galloway of Pittsburgh, the latter in the interest of the Fairview and the former for the Dewey and his own personal claims, of which he has a number. Then there were two experts to view the underground workings of the Dewey. R. W. Purdum made a flying trip to the Sunnyside, rushing out immediately to return with Lovejoy and Russell of Pittsburgh. They are putting in the winter supplies at a lively rate. While it is the opinion of many the wagon road will be completed in September, the companies are not waiting. The freight rate may be a little lower, yet it is an object to large companies to be fully supplied. A. D. Clark of Roosevelt has taken a contract for a portion of the road, beginning at this place and extending on. He has established a camp here, and began work yesterday. His greatest difficulty is to procure men.

One of the most sensational gold discoveries in the history of Arizona has been made near Kingman, and the exciting frontier rushes following bonanza finds of the yellow metal in early days have been duplicated. Miners, prospectors, experts and tenderfeet have arrived by the score. The presence of bonanza rock was determined by R. A. Gurley, an expert from Denver. He quietly returned to Denver and interested A. P. Judson, S. J. Sullivan and several other Denver mining men who accompanied him on his return to Kingman, and the group filed notices on nearly 150 locations. The mad rush followed and all the ground within a radius of eight or 10 miles was staked out hurriedly. The new fields are located a few miles southeast of Kingman, in the broken foothills of the Cerbat and Wallapai mountains. The gold is literally pure and worth a little more than $16.50 an ounce. It is found free in stratified reefs of spar rocks and runs from $10 to $500 to the ton. It is said that there is $20,000,000 in gold in the ore lying exposed on the surface of the great reefs on the original location.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Buyers continue their activity in dry goods jobbing circles, but this activity is not reflected in first hands. There is a tendency to demand more prompt shipment of spot goods and buyers find it difficult to secure satisfactory deliveries on a good many lines. A scarcity on increasing number of lines is apparent and is likely to grow with the wider curtailment in progress.

Corn Made a Small Advance and Oats Showed Considerable Strength.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The weather here and abroad exerted considerable influence upon the wheat market, and this together with strong outside markets created an urgent demand. There was an absence of heavy selling orders and while profit-taking on the moderate advance prevented any soaring, the bullish feeling increased throughout the session, final prices being about the best. September opening at [illegible] better than yesterday's close, advanced, with but a temporary break to [illegible], until it touched [illegible] just before the close, which was a shade easier at [illegible], a gain of [illegible]. December closed [illegible] higher at [illegible], selling up from the opening [illegible]. Both the northwest and southwest were buyers in this market. Cash markets were all strong. Primary receipts were [illegible] bushels against [illegible] last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of [illegible] cars, which with local receipts of 111 cars, 22 of contract grade, made a total for the three points of [illegible] cars, against [illegible] last week, and [illegible] a year ago.

Predictions of cold weather in the corn belt following yesterday's heavy rains, caused free covering by shorts and resulted in a firmer tone in the corn pit. There was an early advance under this influence, but liquidation on the upturn caused a reaction and a loss, which was not entirely regained, although the late strength in wheat helped the market and gave it strength at the close. September was up [illegible] at [illegible], after selling between [illegible] and [illegible]. December closed [illegible] higher at [illegible], ranging between [illegible] and [illegible]. Local receipts were [illegible] cars with 26 of contract grade.

There was a rather strong market in oats notwithstanding selling by the leading long holder, the strength being partly due to the strong tone in wheat and partly to good shipping demand and decreasing receipts. Local longs bought on all reactions and there was a fair demand from commission houses. September closed [illegible] higher at [illegible], after ranging between [illegible] and [illegible]. December closed [illegible] higher at [illegible]. Local receipts were [illegible] cars.

Provisions were firm early on buying by packers, but there was scattered selling with little support. A rally took place late in the day on renewed buying attributed also to the packers, final prices being unchanged at yesterday's close, [illegible] for September pork, [illegible] for lard, and [illegible] for ribs.

PLUMBERS WILL STRIKE UNLESS THEY ARE GIVEN $4.50 A DAY

STEPHEN J. KENNY,
Treasurer of Local Plumbers' Union.

LAWRENCE J. LAWLER,
Financial Secretary of Local Plumbers' Union.

Five hundred plumbers and 200 helpers will throw down their tools October 1 unless the master plumbers agree to an advance of from $4 to $4.50 a day and other conditions. The plumbers have the strongest organization in this district, and their methods of management surpass many other unions. They are not expecting much of a fight, but think the master plumbers will sign the agreement. Several of the latter say they will not sign the scale under any circumstances.

Officials of the union spent yesterday sending out the new scales. No conferences have been held between the master plumbers and the workmen.

Edward Welsh, president of the union, also secretary of the building trades council, yesterday said he was positive the men would get the increase demanded. Business agent James McKee also believes the demand will be acceded to.

The union is strong numerically and financially. It will not turn out on Labor Day, but will keep the $2,500 necessary to participate in the parade in case it is needed.

TO PROBE INTO HEALTH BUREAU

W. H. Stevenson Calls Meeting for Next Monday of Committee to Investigate.

WITNESSES ARE SUMMONED

A call was issued yesterday by Chairman W. H. Stevenson for a meeting next Monday night of the special committee of councils to begin the investigation of the health bureau.

Only three witnesses have been summoned to appear at the first session. Director Harry Moore, Dr. E. C. Matson, the city bacteriologist, and Dr. A. B. Booth, city physician, have been notified to appear and give testimony regarding the methods of the health bureau in the treatment of smallpox.

Controller John B. Larkin has not yet been requested to appear before the committee, although he instigated the investigation. The controller has sent to the committee a communication which will be read at the meeting Monday night. It outlines the scope of the investigation which the controller wishes the committee to pursue.

CITY STILL HOLDS THE TECH SITE

Trustees Will Have to First Furnish Details of Plan and Scope.

HELD UP IN CITY COUNCILS

"Additional legislation by councils will be required before the trustees of the Carnegie institute obtain possession of the site for the Carnegie technical school," stated Councilman W. H. Stevenson yesterday. Mr. Stevenson is a member of the board of trustees and was most conspicuous in the recent fight in councils over the selection of a site.

"A resolution is pending in the finance committee," stated Mr. Stevenson, "which turns over the Flinn-Magee tract to the control of the board of trustees for the technical school whenever the board of trustees furnish councils with details showing the plan and scope of the school and also information as to the representation the city will have in the administration of the school. The statement giving this information will have to be attached to the resolution before it passes councils, and I suppose the trustees will have it ready early in September."

The resolution referred to by Mr. Stevenson was introduced in councils by President C. S. Crawford some time before the summer adjournment, but could not be acted upon until the property had been actually purchased by the city. The purchase has been consummated and the city has possession of the deeds. It now remains for the city to authorize the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute to take the land and use it for the purposes of a technical school.

The resolution presented by Mr. Crawford was drawn up at the suggestion of W. N. Frew, president of the board of trustees, who gave as his reason that there should be a strict understanding upon the public records regarding the use of this portion of the city's park property so that no entanglement would arise in the future and to prevent any possible use of the land for other purposes.

Mr. Stevenson said yesterday that the presidents of councils and the members of the library committee of councils were members of the board of trustees of Carnegie institute by virtue of their public positions and also, probably, the mayor, and he thought the city would be given the same representation in the administration of the affairs of the technical school. As soon as the trustees furnish the statement mentioned above the resolution will be passed by councils and the trustees will then be able, and not until then, to go ahead with the erection of the school buildings.

is a good thing for the young husband to give the young wife. But sympathy will not abate one jot of her nervousness or lift her to that plane of sound health where alone the wife and mother can find happiness.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription meets every womanly want and need. It tranquilizes the nerves, restores the appetite and induces refreshing sleep. Its use previous to maternity makes the baby's advent practically painless and gives the mother abundant nutrition for her child. "Favorite Prescription" is a woman's medicine and has no equal as a cure for womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." No other medicine is "just as good" for weak and sick women.

"It affords me great pleasure to be able to say a few words in regard to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Flora Arn, of Dallas, Jackson Co., Mo. "I was tempted to try these medicines after seeing the effect upon my mother. At an early age of married life I was greatly bothered with painful periods, also a troublesome drain which rendered me weak and unfit for work of any kind. I became so thin there was nothing left of me but skin and bone. My husband became alarmed and got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' After he saw the wonderful effects of that one he got two more, and after I used those up there was no more pain, and I began to gain in flesh very rapidly."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

RUPTURE

MEN, Women and Children CURED in 30 to 60 Days

Through the discovery of MY ELECTRO CHEMIC METHOD I have achieved results in treating rupture utterly impossible from any other source. No other physician has accomplished such cures because no other physician has given so much study to perfecting a treatment which would always be sure.

My treatment is absolutely painless, will not detain you from your daily duties, and will cure you so that you will remain cured the rest of your life. Less scientific treatments and unskilled specialists give but temporary relief. The failure of the truss to cure has been most glaring when contrasted with the marvelous results I have effected with My Electro Chemic treatment.

Throw Your Truss Away.

DR. GEO. B. WIX,

The Discoverer of the Electric Chemic Method.

He has devoted years and years of unbroken study to the development of his treatment, and has accomplished the greatest record of CURES in all medical and surgical annals.

Before my discovery there was no treatment except the dreaded, painful and dangerous surgical operation that could be employed for the treating of rupture with hope of mastering the disease.

Pittsburgh, April 24, 1903.
Dr. Geo. B. Wix:

I am pleased to inform you that I have suffered no inconvenience since I discontinued your treatment for rupture. I fully recommend all who suffer from this distressing disease to take your treatment.

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD ARMSTRONG,
7318 Butler Street.
